Police Chief Killed After Family Fight

Wife Admits Shooting Lyndhurst Official; Is Held by Authorities

CLEVELAND (AP)—A young police chief died early today from a bullet wound and police held his pregnant wife.

Police Chief Ray S. Trosper, 28, of Lyndhurst died in Huron Road hospital after hours of surgery.

Mayor Elmer T. Elbrecht of the Cleveland suburb said Trosper's estranged wife, Kathryn, 25, admitted shooting him last night during a domestic quarrel.

Mrs. Trosper, the mother of a 4 year old son and expecting another child in three months, sued the police chief for divorce last month.

She accused him of striking her and falsely saying she had affairs with other men. Judge William K. Thomas of Common Pleas Court issued a restraining order to keep him from molesting her.

The bullet from his service gun hit Trosper below the ribs on the right side.

Mrs. Trosper said her husband threatened to take away their son, Michael.

"He wanted to take Michael for a ride in his car and I didn't want him to," the dark-haired wife said.

"We started fighting and hitting each other with our fists. He was choking me and I finally broke away and ran to the closet and got the gun—his service revolver."

Lyndhurst Solicitor Martin Wegman said he could not say what charges will be placed against her until his investigation is completed.

Driver Killed In Auto Crash Near Crestline

CRESTLINE—Ensil E. Miller, 31, of Crestline, was killed about 2:45 this morning when he lost control of his car on Route 30-N about two miles east of Crestline.

Richland County Sheriff E. P. Long, who investigated the accident, said Miller was headed west. His car careened out of control approximately 564 feet before he was thrown from the vehicle. The auto continued on an additional 237 feet before coming to a stop.

Richland County Coroner D C Lavendar ruled that Miller's death was the result of a fractured skull.

Ensil Edward Miller was born in Niles, O., on Aug. 25, 1924 to Mr. and Mrs. David Miller of Crestline who survive. He is also survived by his widow, the former Eleanor Hyler; two daughters, Dianne and Rosalee; two brothers, Robert and Glenn, and a sister, Charlene, all of Crestline.

Mr. Miller was employed at the General Motors plant now under construction between Crestline and Mansfield. He was a veteran of the U. S. Navy.

His body was removed to the Garverick Funeral Home in Crestline where arrangements for the funeral are incomplete.

Agreement Near For Highway Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Working late, Senate-House conferees Friday night virtually completed action on construction features of a compromise bill to authorize a giant nationwide road building program.

After the conference broke up, Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) told newsmen the group would meet next Wednesday to clean up the one remaining point at issue—whether to add 2,500 miles to the proposed interstate superhighway system.

The House had voted to authorize a 40,000 mile interstate network. The Senate bill contains provision for 42,500 miles.

The group had reached agreement on including toll roads in the interstate system. In doing so, the conferees accepted House language with some minor revisions. Gore said. The Senate bill had no such provision.

Seize Hostages

Armed Trio Pulls Illinois Jailbreak

HILLSBORO, Ill. (AP) — Three heavily armed prisoners broke out of the Montgomery County jail Friday night, commandeered two automobiles and took four persons as hostages. Two of them were captured early today in the Indianapolis area.

All the hostages were released unharmed, Illinois state police said. The hostages were Mr. and Mrs. Don Fogler, Miss Selma Richter, a school teacher, and William Horton, all of Pana.

Release Hostages

State police said Warner Yates, 14, and Raymond Schneider, 20, both of Chicago, were captured early today at Indianapolis. They had released Miss Richter and Horton and abandoned their second automobile in the area.

The other escapee was Norman Patrick Kelly, 20, a Negro, of Chicago.

Dave Wisdom, chief deputy sheriff at Hillsboro, said the three men fled in a deputy sheriff's car and were armed with a submachine gun, a rifle and two pistols.

Deputy Locked in Cell

P M. Bandy, the jailer, said he was alone on duty and was rushed by the three youths as he let a prisoner into a cell.

"They threatened to kill me," he said "They got out and locked me in the cell, took my keys and stole the weapons."

Fogler told police he and his wife were driving home when they were forced to the roadside by a car.

He said two men jumped into their vehicle and directed him to drive east ahead of the sheriff's auto.

At Irving, about five miles from Hillsboro in southcentral Illinois, Fogler said the second couple was stopped. Their car was commandeered and the sheriff's car abandoned.

The hostages were warned if they "followed orders they would not be harmed," Fogler added.

He said he and his wife were released near Shelbyville when his car ran out of gas.

Wisdom said Kelly was charged with armed robbery and the other two men were accused of auto theft.

Deputies Chase Car

Two sheriff's deputies spotted the Horton car at the Marion-Hendricks county line 10 miles west of Indianapolis after receiving a report that two youths tried to hold up a motel at Bainbridge Ind., 25 miles west of the spot.

Deputies Robert Stout and Robert Dodson said they chased the car for three miles on U. S. 36 at speeds of almost 100 miles an hour.

Horton and Miss Richter were left unharmed in the car when

Bolivia Tense After Reports Of Revolt Plot

Security Measures Tightened; Election Scheduled on Sunday

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Charging a pre-election revolt plot is afoot, Bolivia's government tightened security measures throughout the country today. Opposition forces called for a two-month delay in Sunday's vote.

Authorities deployed patrols of armed peasants and miners throughout the La Paz area on the lookout for possible trouble, and informed sources said the government would pay no attention to the demands that the election be put off.

Opposition Members Flee

Tension reached a high pitch Friday night as 13 opposition members fled to asylum in various foreign embassies here in the wake of the revolt charges.

Among eight who entered the Guatemalan Embassy was Eduardo Messuti Roca, a leader of the Republican Socialist Union (PURS) accused by the government of having a hand in the alleged plot.

Interior Minister Federico Fortun brought the plot issue to a head when he charged the opposition planned to stage a rebellion today or Sunday to prevent national elections from going off on schedule.

'Have Ample Details'

"We have ample details that subversive plans were made a long time ago," he said.

Earlier, the government published claims by two high officers in the Defense Ministry that Bolivian exiles had plotted with certain members of the Argentine government to topple Bolivia's present regime.

Two American Priests Report Shanghai Stop

Inform News Service They Hope To Reach Hong Kong in Week

HONG KONG (AP)—Two American Roman Catholic priests freed after three years in Red Chinese prisons reported today from Shanghai they are well and have been told to rest a few days in the Chinese city.

The two priests, the Rev. John William Clifford and the Rev Thomas Leonard Phillips, both of San Francisco, talked with The Associated Press by telephone.

They were among 13 Americans known to be imprisoned in Red China. Peiping radio said Friday the priests are being released. Officials here said it was believed they would reach Hong Kong within a week.

"Please tell our loved ones we have been released and we are well," said Father Clifford, 39, speaking in a strong, clear voice.

"We were just released last night and don't know exactly what the situation is. We have simply been told by authorities to come here and rest a few days. There's nothing wrong with us, but it is not clear yet what we are to do."

Father Clifford and Father Phillips were sentenced to three years in a special trial last November on charges of espionage and counterrevolutionary activity.

Parley Postponed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's illness has caused indefinite postponement of an inter-American conference in Panama.

Panamanian Ambassador J. J. Vallarino announced Friday that, in accordance with the expressed will of a majority of the 21 American republics, a meeting of American presidents would be put off from its scheduled June 25-26 dates.

Ike Gaining, Begins Diet Of Soft Food

Doctors Give Consent On First Non-Liquids Since Major Surgery

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, starting his second week of convalescence, got a doctors' go-ahead today to take his first nonliquid food by mouth since undergoing major surgery.

An 8 a.m. bulletin from the Army's Walter Reed Hospital said the President would receive "soft foods later in the day."

Up to now he has received nothing but liquids since his operation one week ago today for relief of a partial obstruction of the small intestine.

Fed Intravenously

During the first days after surgery Eisenhower was fed intravenously. Starting Thursday evening he began to take warm liquids by mouth.

Today's medical bulletin said: "The President had a very good night's rest. He slept almost continuously for more than eight hours.

"Feeding of liquids by mouth is being continued and will be augmented by soft foods later in the day.

"His temperature is 98.2, his pulse is 78, his blood pressure is 118 over 70, his respiration is 18, all of which are normal.

"The President is in excellent spirits."

James C. Hagerty, press secretary, said the soft foods include such things as "custard, gelatin and cream of wheat."

No Business Slated

Eisenhower started this Father's Day weekend free of business and official visitors.

Eisenhower chatted Friday with his son and daughter-in-law, Maj and Mrs. John Eisenhower.

As Eisenhower started his second week in Walter Reed Army Hospital, a formal bulletin reported Friday night that "his condition continues to progress very satisfactorily."

Surgery Week Ago

It was just a week ago today that Eisenhower underwent an early-morning operation for relief of an intestinal obstruction that had failed to respond to 12 hours of preoperative treatment.

Since that time, he has resumed brief conferences with staff aides, signed congressional bills and other documents, and had one official visitor—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany.

Vice President Nixon and Secretary of State Dulles have appointments for Monday, and there was expectation that as Eisenhower's recovery continues, other Cabinet members may visit the hospital later in the week.

No Political News

But there was no news on the question of whether Eisenhower's illness may cause him to reconsider his Feb. 29 announcement that he would seek a second term.

"There have been no political discussions," press secretary James Hagerty said in reply to repeated questions. He said he had not talked politics to the President, nor had any other White House staff members, the doctors or visitors.

Hagerty said he had not checked with Eisenhower to get the President's reaction to the

Doubt Is Cast On Hopes for Early Accord

Positions Far Apart As Four-Man Teams Meet in New York City

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiating teams for the Big Three steel companies and the United Steelworkers of America met today to try to break a stalemate on the terms of a new contract.

The union has turned down management's first offer.

Failure to reach agreement by June 30 when present contracts expire could lead to a strike in the pivotal industry.

Open Talks at 10 a.m.

An effort to find some area where a start could be made toward bridging the differences was undertaken by four-man teams from each side. They met at the Hotel Roosevelt shortly after 10 a.m.

Neither side was optimistic that agreement could be quickly reached in view of the widely contrasting position they took in lengthy statements Friday.

Speaking for his own company and the other two of steel's Big Three, Republic and Bethlehem, Vice President John A. Stephens of U S. Steel declared:

"This is final, and I don't mean maybe. . . . We are not going to regard this as a floor from which you bargain us upwards."

Much To Be Negotiated

He denied it was a "take it or leave it" matter, saying there was much to be negotiated within its framework.

Said President David J. McDonald, president of the United Steel workers, of the "final offer":

"Entirely inadequate . . . the titans of industry have labored and brought up a louse."

Ahead of the steel contract bargainers loomed the shadow of another economy-shaking steel strike that could directly involve 650,000 workers and indirectly tens of thousands more.

These developments marked the

States in West Show Backing For Harriman

Chief Opponent for Stevenson Strong in Both Ends of Nation

By The Associated Press

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York apparently has strength in both ends of the nation in his quest for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Harriman already is assured of the bulk of New York's big 98-vote delegation to the national convention. Friday a Western supporter predicted he would get at least 63½ of the 96 votes in six Western states.

Milton Weilenmann, Utah Democratic chairman and an organizer of an 11-state rally for Harriman being held in Denver, made the estimate to reporters.

In Superior, Wis., backers of Harriman and Adlai Stevenson, the current front-runner for the Democratic nod to oppose President Eisenhower in November, were hard at work among delegates to the Wisconsin Democratic Convention.

All 28 of Wisconsin's Democratic delegate votes in the April primary went to Sen Estes Kefauver the third active Democratic candidate. Harriman and Stevenson backers were buttonholing delegates just in case Kefauver decides to release them.

This seemed somewhat unlikely now Kefauver has said he is still in the race for the nomination despite a crushing loss to Stevenson in the recent California primary.

There was no word meanwhile on whether President Eisenhow-

Nonsensitive Jobs Not Covered

Security Battle Livened By Justice Dept.'s Order

WASHINGTON (AP) A justice Department order suspending application of the federal employe security program to nonsensitive jobs stirred fresh demands in Congress today for new legislation to include them.

Atty. Gen. Brownell, announcing the action Friday, said it was taken to assure that the executive branch "complies fully" with a Supreme Court decision of last Monday.

However, Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) said he regarded it as "an admission by the Eisenhower administration of its hoax, numbers racket and a feeble attempt to correct the hundreds of injustices it brought about."

The Supreme Court ruled in effect Monday that the government may not summarily dismiss on security grounds workers whose jobs are not directly concerned with national security. The ruling did not affect application of the program to sensitive jobs.

Brownell announced that the security program was being suspended pending further study insofar as it related to the removal of employes in nonsensitive jobs.

He also said any employes in nonsensitive jobs who now are under suspension are to be restored to duty immediately. He said there are 17 of these. Their names were not disclosed.

Sen. Cotton (R-NH) said the restoration of these suspended employes makes "even more imperative" the prompt enactment of legislation to make the security program applicable to all government employes.

Cotton is one of the sponsors of a bill introduced by Sen. Mundt (R-SD) to nullify the effect of the Supreme Court's 6-3 decision. Sim-

Bomb 2 Miles Off Target, Air Force Admits

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The chief Air Force spokesman said Friday night the first hydrogen bomb dropped from an American plane missed the target about two miles.

Brig. Gen. Robert L. Scott Jr., Air Force director of information, declared the "whole thing was a human error."

In a telephone interview with the San Francisco Chronicle, the general said a "memory switch" was not turned off when the bomb was dropped at Bikini atoll May 21. The "memory switch" is a device that corrects an aircraft's wind drift.

Scott said "We don't want to come out and make a bunch of excuses but the bomb hit close enough to destroy anything, anywhere."

The general was at Chowchilla to address a Rotary Club meeting.

Stories that the bomb missed its target had become current the last few days. Estimates of the miss ran up to seven miles. The Air Force in Washington had been noncommittal.

Trucker Dies At Lebanon in Weird Crash

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — A truck missed a curve in Lebanon early today, banged through a used car lot, pushed three automobiles off a sheer 50-foot drop at the back of the lot, followed the cars over the cliff and caught fire.

The truck driver was killed and his body burned beyond recognition.

Assistant Police Chief Don Epping identified the dead man tentatively as Richard E. Fox, 31, of Louisville, Ky.

Brakes on the truck apparently failed, Epping said.

The lot fronts on U.S. 42 near Ohio 48 not far from the heart of Lebanon. The truck struck "four or five" cars parked on the lot, said Epping, before pushing three off the sheer drop. Below the lot, some 25 feet from where the truck landed, new automobiles were parked. Epping said four of the new cars were damaged.

The truck was loaded with unidentified chemicals which started to burn slowly before flames were extinguished, the police officer said.

Both lots belong to Bertsche Chevrolet, which uses the lower level for storage.

A double celebration set for Sunday at Emanuel Lutheran Church is observance by Rev. and Mrs. M. E. Hollensen of their silver wedding anniversary and the 25th anniversary of Rev. Hollensen's ordination into the ministry.

At the morning worship service a special commemoration will be held and the sermon will be given by the pastor's brother, Rev. C. M. Hollensen of St. John's Lutheran Church at Richmond, Ind. Junior and senior choirs will sing under direction of Miss Wanda McMahan and Homer Huffman with Mrs. William Ackerman presiding at the organ.

THE CONGREGATION has arranged for Rev. and Mrs. Hollensen to entertain their guests at dinner at Hotel Harding following. A reception with all members of the congregation and firends invited is set for 3 p.m. to 5 in the church parlors. In charge of arrangements are Harry Kaelber, Walter Axthelm and Carl Campbell.

Rev. Hollensen has been pastor here since Nov. 1, 1937. He came here from Eaton, O.

Graduated from high school at East St. Louis, Ill., in 1924, he received his bachelor of arts degree from Capital University in Columbus in 1928 then finished his theological training in the seminary at Capital in 1931, being graduated with the bachelor of divinity degree. June 14, 1931, he was ordained in Zion Lutheran Church in Chicago, Ill. His marriage to Miss Ruth Boyer was an event of June 20, 1931, in East St. Louis. Following a call to Grace Lutheran Church at Eaton, he was installed there July 26, that year.

THE HOLLENSENS have two daughters, Mrs. Tom K. Baughman, formerly Miss Dorothy Ruth Hollensen, born at Eaton May 26, 1933, and Miss Carol Jean Hollensen, born in Marion April 10, 1938.

During Rev. Hollensen's pastorate here numerous improvements have been made to the church and parsonage and the new $250,000 educational building was constructed and dedicated. On May 6, this year, three years after dedication of the unit, the mortgage was burned. The congregation is now in process of installing air conditioning equipment in the church and church parlors.

REV. AND MRS. M. E. HOLLENSEN, celebrating Sunday their silver wedding anniversary together with the 25th anniversary of the minister's ordination, are shown in the downstairs lounge of the Emanuel Lutheran Church's educational wing as they look at a guest book. Not My Will

A Sermonette

By REV. MARTIN L. DOLBEER
Pastor of St. Paul's English Lutheran Church

John 5: 30 "I seek not my own will, but the will of him who sent me.

John 8: 50 "I do not seek my own glory."

The complete self-giving of our Lord is always evident in the Gospel story. He sought not his own ease, or pleasure, or glorification. His commitment was a total self-forgetting in the doing of the work given him.

As disciples of our Lord, we are urged to have the "same mind" in us which was in our Lord, a mind that looks not to our own interest but seeks the glory of God.

ONE OF THE quirks of the human mind shows itself in an attempt to make religion — even the religion of the self-giving Christ, — over into a means of self-service. Take an illustration from a familiar Gospel hymn, the chorus of which goes, "Oh, that will be, glory for me, glory for me, glory for me." Why should we sing of glory for ME? I rather think that when we reach heaven, little insignificant 'me' will be one of the last things I'll think about. I'll be too busy singing of the Glory of the Lamb of God.

Or another lovely song which is dear to us, yet has a very real flaw in it. This is "I came to the Garden Alone," which ends by saying "and the joys we share as we tarry there, none other has ever known." Only I? What is special about me that Jesus my Lord should single me out and give me something no one else is privileged to know?

Of course we know it is not so. The joy we share with Jesus could never be a real joy if selfishly kept to ourselves. It is complete only when it is handed on to someone else. It is not a private treasure; it is a shared treasure. The Gospel is the Gospel of giving, not of getting. In the joy of it and the imparting of it we forget self.

IT IS POSSIBLE to be quite 'religious' with the 'I' right in the center of things. Our prayers can be selfish, our church activities can be self-centered. We are doing it not from a true love of God, but as a form of love for ourselves. We frankly are trying to use the power of God to satisfy our needs, calm our fears, give us peace of mind, lay up treasures in heaven for us! In the crudest form of such 'egocentric' religion, we see the pagan with his personal idol-god. The idol is merely a kind of super-servant, a form of magic to insure to the devotee what he petitions. If the god fails to come across with the goods, he will be discarded. Man sets the pattern, makes the decisions. God is asked to put the seal of his approval on it. Martin Luther writes that "every man is an idolater, he worships only himself and would make God his servant."

All of us need to have our eyes opened to this subtle danger of getting self into the center even of our faith. If you are serving God for what you can get out of Him, you are very likely to be disappointed. God just does not act that way. He is Lord and His Will is determinative. He sets the pattern of life and lays down the rules of the game. True religion, in the language of the theologian, is "theocentric," — with God in the center, always and forever God; God the beginning and the end of all things. And I, who am I that I should presume to attempt to impose my feeble will, my erratic desires, my selfish petitions upon the Eternal God?

When our Lord says, "I seek not my own glory," only the glory of God, that is a good rule for us as well.

BISHOP WILLIAM LAW, back in the 17th century, in his "Humble, Earnest and Affectionate Address to the Clergy," writes: "We only need to know two things: 1. That our salvation consists wholly in being saved from ourselves, or that which we are by nature; 2. That in the whole nature of things, nothing could be this salvation or Saviour to us, but such a humility of God manifested in human nature as is beyond all expression. Hence, the first unalterable term of this Saviour to fallen man is this, "Except a man deny himself, forsakes all that he has, yea, and his own life, he cannot be my disciple." And to show that this is but the beginning or ground of man's salvation the Saviour adds, 'Learn of Me, for I am meek and lowly of heart'. What a light is here for those who can bear or love the light: Self is the whole evil of fallen nature; selfdenial is our capacity of being saved, humility is our Saviour."

He continues "All the vices of men have their birth and power in the pride of self, or I may better say, in the atheism and idolatry of self, for Self is both Atheist and Idolater. It is theist because it has rejected God, it is an Idolater because it is its own idol. On the other hand, all the virtues of the heavenly life are the virtues of humility."

And the Wise Man who wrote Proverbs asks us to "trust in the Lord with all thy heart; and lean upon thine own understanding. Aye, be not wise in thine own eyes, but, in all thy ways acknowledge Him; He will direct thy paths."

Thank God for that assurance, blind and ignorant as we are, where would our self-chosen paths end? But our times and destinies are in wiser Hands; let us be content to leave them there.

Accident Report Hoax, West Virginian Finds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A man from Williamson, W.Va., called police here and spent 45 frantic minutes on the phone Friday trying to get information about an accident.

He had a newspaper, he said, "The Columbus Tribune," which told in big headlines that four of his friends had been hurt in a "crash."

Police record clerk Lillian Black knew of no such newspaper. The caller provided the paper's address, and that rang a bell.

Mrs. Black explained that a penny arcade had once been situated at the address given. Among trick devices sold there were phony newspapers.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

How To Rise Above Failure

I had made a speech one night in a Midwestern city and was in my hotel room ready to go to bed when the phone rang. It seemed some people were having a prayer meeting and they wanted me to come.

Dr. Peale

I looked at my watch and saw that it was one o'clock. What kind of prayer meeting was this, I wondered? In any case, I had an early morning plane to catch and needed my rest, so started to decline. But then the voice on the phone said they had been praying that I would join them. Well, I preach that your prayers are always answered—so I had to go.

When I got there and felt the spirit of the group, I was glad I'd come. The room was packed. People were sitting on the floor, on tables; there were even two men perched on the grand piano. They were the gayest, happiest crowd I'd ever seen.

"What in the world is the matter with you people, that you are all so happy?" I asked in amazement.

"Why," someone replied, "we have found God."

"Who did you meet?" I asked.

"God," they said.

Then spontaneously everyone burst into the strain of a great hymn in His praise and I saw that His power had brought not only joy to these people—each of them with differing problems—but also the ability to rise above failure.

This column is written to encourage you to believe you can also meet and reverse your failures. For how can a child of God not want to be victorious? I believe that we were put here on earth to conquer ourselves and our environment and to make something of ourselves and our world. In this respect, I don't recommend compromise or capitulation.

In our religious faith, there is the express promise of the conquest of failure. . . . "Seek ye first the kingdom of God," says the Bible, " . . . and all these things shall be added unto you." It says "added," you will note not subtracted. It is the gospel of the plus, not the minus.

So live and practice your own faith and you, too, will find the joyful ability to rise above failure.

A GIRL WITH braces on her legs walked across the room. "See these braces?" she said. "They'll be off soon. But they told me I'd never walk again."

"You're doing all right," I remarked.

"My doctor and God did it," she replied, "but mostly God."

Then a lovable kind of fellow said: "I was an alcoholic, the worst drunk in town. I was a disgrace to myself and my family. I lost my business, my wife and children, the respect of everyone."

Another man called across the room, "But, brother, has he got them all back again!"

"How did you do it?" I asked.

"God," he said simply.

A YOUNG COUPLE in their early thirties told me how they had got so they hated each other, snarled and fought. "Our home was a hell and we were headed for the divorce court when, one night, we met Him." They smiled at each other in obvious devotion.

636 Enrolled At Girls' State

10th Annual Session Opened at Capital U.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 10th and largest Buckeye Girls' State gets underway today on the Capital University campus.

The young women—636 of them—will come from all over Ohio to participate in a week-long program designed to teach them about state government.

A similar program — Buckeye Boys' State — was held this week at Camp Perry, sponsored by the American Legion. Girls' State is sponsored by the Legion auxiliary.

The girls attending have all just completed their junior year in high school. They were selected by school officials for scholarship, leadership and personality.

"They're the cream of the crop," said Mrs. O. Linn Perry, Girls' State director.

The Akron woman heads a staff of 10 administrators and 54 assistants who will guide the young people as they set up a mock state government.

Two mythical counties and 14 cities will be formed.

Tuesday, primary and general elections will be held to choose a governor, legislators and judicial officials from "Federalist" and "Nationalist" party candidates.

Ohio Gov. Frank J Lausche and a host of other officials will be on hand to encourage and instruct the girls.

Carl V. Weygandt, chief justice of the Ohio Supreme Court, will officiate at an inauguration banquet Wednesday night, just as he has been doing since Girls' State began in 1947.

Throughout the week, Girls' State leaders will be trying to impress on their charges the contribution women can and should make to governmental activities.

Contest On for Top City at Boys' State

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (AP) — Interest at the 19th Buckeye Boys State centered today on the contest to select the prize-winning city.

Three daily awards have been won by the city headed by Mayor Fred Roberts of Monclova, Lucas County Two awards have been won by cities headed by Fred Meeker of Galion and Mike Christian of Greenville.

The contest closes tonight.

Another highlight is tonight's amateur show. Tim Johnson of Alliance and Ray Reed of Warren will serve as masters of ceremonies. Soloists will include Guy d'Aurelio of Canton and Byron Predika of Niles.

Edward J. Sidenicka, Cleveland attorney, was elected president of the American Legion trustees of Buckeye Boys State. Robert Minshall of Washington Court House was elected vice president.

Top Choral Rating Is Won by Indiana Singers

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Ambassadors of Harmony, Michigan City, Ind., Friday night won the choral contest at the 16th annual meeting of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America.

More than a score of singing groups, each made up of 35 or 40 voices competed in the night show after five finalists were picked in the quartet division Friday afternoon.

Rudy Hart is director of the winning Indiana group. Other choruses finished in this order: Cascade Chorus, Eugene-Springfield, Ore.; East York Barbershoppers, Toronto, Ont; The Pekin, I., Chorus, and the Border Chorders, El Paso, Texas.

Two New Jersey foursomes are among the quartet finalist from whose ranks the winner will be chosen tonight.

Prospect Festival Slated

The 77th annual Prospect Firemen's festival is scheduled Wednesday night. The program will include a concert by the Prospect High School Band and other entertainment. In case of inclement weather the event will be postponed until Thursday night.

All-Ohio Traffic Court Conference Winds Up Parley

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Why do drivers speed?

A panel including safety experts, a psychologist and a newsman discussed the question Friday at the closing session of the All-Ohio Traffic Court Conference. They came up with some differing opinions.

Drivers rebel against restrictions when they can't see any obvious reasons for them, said Harold Eckhardt, chief traffic engineer of the Ohio Highway Department, adding that speed patterns are controlled by the driver's comfort and feeling of security.

Harry Stoneberger of the Fostoria (Ohio) Review-Times declared "traffic safety involves common sense and not too much else." He took exception to emotional factors advanced to explain speeding.

"Something else always interacts with speed to cause accidents," said Dr. Philburn Ratoosh, associate professor of psychology at Ohio State University.

In other conference highlights, a special committee on court reform urged uniformity in penalties set by courts.

The committee was appointed to study Ohio's magistrate courts.

Ex-Suffragette Dies

HOME LOANS * INSURED SAVINGS

If this has never happened to you no words can describe the awful finality of an umpire's decision. It falls like a sentence of death on a boy's heroic dream. And with it ebbs out the joy of his mightiest hit, and of the fly he caught last inning.

But thus baseball helps to build men. A fellow learns how to lose. And that's the first step in learning how to win.

But the biggest lessons of life no sport can teach. On a higher tier than sportsmanship, teamwork and the desire to win are FAITH, BROTHERHOOD, AND DEDICATION OF LIFE. These are the ingredients of spiritual victory—the fabric of God-inspired manhood at its best.

We can rightly be proud of our sand-lots and Little Leagues. But the character of American manhood depends most of all on our churches.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship It is a storehouse of spiritual values Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily

With Victory in Sight

A victory celebration on the Salvation Army building fund drive certainly would be premature now.

Thursday night's report of $151,411.02 was still $53,788.98 short of the over-all goal. A great deal of cleanup work obviously remains to be done.

Nevertheless, the campaign organization has battled such heavy odds in many respects, and some divisions have done such an outstanding job in the face of handicaps, that a "well done" at this point isn't out of order.

In any city, the bulk of the community service work of this type is done by a comparatively small segment of the population.

Marion is no exception, and the hard core of the organization for each fund-raising project naturally involves a great many of the same people, despite periodic changes caused by death, departure ffom the city, the advent of newcomers, and other reasons.

The "regulars" have been very much in evidence in this Salvation Army drive, and they have done another bell-ringing job.

We congratulate Cleo Ludwig and John Stafford, the co-chairmen, and all their captains and workers for yeoman service.

We also share the optimism expressed by George Schertzer, chairman of the advisory board, who said Friday he is confident the drive will attain a degree of success that will assure beginning of construction on the new citadel in the fall.

The building is badly needed and well deserved.

Something for Father

It is a built-in circumstance of Father's Day that most comment about it is made by men, because men are more numerous than women in the jobs where commenting is done.

The truth is, of course, that fathers should not be allowed to deliver opinions about themselves at such a time. They are unable to be objective.

If they were, they would revise some of their preconceived notions, such as the notion they are the heads of their families. They aren't. They are family handymen. If they assert their headship, they are criticized as minor despots by their families and also by friends and neighbors.

As handymen, they do what needs to be done, such as making money, mowing the lawn, trimming trees, spanking unruly children, walking dogs, helping with the dishes, passing judgment on women's hats and being handy with pliers, screw drivers and crying towels. Most fathers enjoy this in their addle-headed fashion It makes them feel important. It gives them a chance to wonder what their broods would do if they weren't there to hold things together.

The best treat any father can have on Father's Day, therefore, is to hear the brood wonder about the same thing. "Gee, Dad, I wonder who would mow the lawn if you weren't here" — that sort of thing. It makes a father feel necessary, and that is the highest reward of fatherhood.

No Ray of Hope

When Paul Butler, chairman of the Democrats, blasted optimistic medical reports on President Eisenhower's recovery from his second illness in less than 10 months for being tainted with politics, he was understating his party's peculiar political problem.

The fault, however, was not with the doctors It was with the Democratic chairman's inability to see any hope in a situation that causes an ailing chief executive to continue to be an odds-on favorite after a second serious illness. The political taint is in Mr. Butler's mind.

He had been made to realize the truth of what had been mentioned only as a quip before Mr. Eisenhower's bout with surgery — that the American people would rather have an ailing Dwight Eisenhower as president than anyone who might run against him in the pink of condition.

Although the presidential decision about seeking a second term may be reopened for personal review, it was hopefully assumed when Mr. Eisenhower's operation had been called a success that his original decision would hold; that he would still consent to accept a second nomination.

The situation bears some resemblance to Franklin D. Roosevelt's willingness to accept a fourth-term nomination when his health was questionable, but with this difference:

The United States was at war in 1944. There was natural reluctance to break up a winning team. Thomas E. Dewey's insistence that it was time for a change was drowned out by military events during the campaign

In 1956, there are no major distractions abroad to crowd out domestic issues. But the Democratic chairman must face up to the fact there are no domestic issues to give his party or its 1956 candidate a chance to say it is time for a change, either.

It is a frustrating prospect when the only thing a national chairman can look forward to is marching up the hill, then marching back down again. Republican chairmen from 1936 to 1944 used to feel as futility-ridden as Mr. Butler does now.

Religion In and On the Job

The Indispensable Man

By EUGENE CARR

Machines do just about everything for us these days. They lift us to the top of a skyscraper, move a mountain of coal, do our arithmetic, and give us a suntan. In fact, last year automatic coin machines sold almost two billion dollars worth of merchandise without benefit of personal salesmanship.

But, as the machine age continues to grow and develop, man does not become less important. To the contrary, he becomes more important. His skill is more essential today than ever before. For man must invent the machine, build it, assemble it, and master its operation. And the more skillful and intricate the machine, the more skillful and astute man must be.

THE SAME IS TRUE of man's place in today's complex social system. Almost anything that is a part of our life and living is organized. Education is a formal process, health is a matter of public concern, welfare is an emergency function, recreation is a mass project.

But, here again, man is the central figure. The system succeeds or fails based on his individual competence. The more complex the problem, the more responsible he must be.

A prominent speaker made the point recently that never in history have we had so much expert help in raising our children. He referred to the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, Boy's Clubs, Junior Achievement, the YM and YW, the churches, and the work these organizations do in molding character and meeting the challenge of recurring youth problems. He implied that with all this assistance, today's boys and girls should grow up in the finest environment yet available to any generation.

BUT ONCE MORE, the individual man is indispensable. Nothing can take the place entirely of the "master mechanic" in the home, the "expert counselor" in the family group.

The more help a parent accepts from outside agencies in raising his children, the more skillful he must be in integrating the personal influence so necessary to completely round out a well adjusted youth. The more interested a youngster becomes in activities outside the home the more ingenious a parent must be in keeping up with his child's growth and development.

Mother does a first rate job in keeping up with the ever-changing life of her sons and daughters. But Dad must keep pace, too. He is still the indispensable man to his family.

How about it, Dad? It's your day!

Ike Was Indignant

By Jay G. Hayden

A 6-to-3 decision of the U.S. Supreme Court last Monday, that a federal employe can be fired as a security risk only if he holds a "sensitive" position highlights a controversy that may have been a contributory cause of President Eisenhower's intestinal upset.

One of Mr. Eisenhower's last official acts before his illness was a 45-minute face-to-face encounter with Harry P. Cain, obstreperous member of the Subversive Activities Control Board.

For months past, former Sen. Cain has been a pain in the neck, and possibly the stomach, to Mr. Eisenhower by leading an attack on the administration's security program, on the ground that it was unfair to persons accused of disloyalty.

The effect of crusade has been more so because Cain during his service as senator from Washington (1947-53) was second only to Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) in his tirades against all folks leftist.

After Cain was defeated overwhelmingly for re-election in 1952, despite the pull of the Eisenhower coattail, the latter appointed him to the post in which he would have fullest scope for chasing radicals out of the government.

It was a great surprise, therefore, when Cain turned up early last year as a bitter critic of Mr. Eisenhower's subversive activities procedure.

In a speech at Rochester, N.Y., Feb. 20, 1955, Cain declared the program had "swung too far on the side of injustice" and was "unnecessarily destroying individuals."

He added that the government would be in trouble so long as it considered "administrative justice" to be different from "legal justice" and said the time had come to "end the marriage between security and politics."

A LITTLE LATER he defended accused Communists for invoking the "Fifth Amendment" as against questions by inquisitive congressmen, declaring that provision of the Constitution to be the nation's main "bulwark of freedom."

No employe, Cain said, should be discharged without being accorded a public hearing—and all those discharged for Communistic association should be reinstated forthwith unless it could be proved that they actually were members of the Communist party.

Cain said he would invoke the Fifth Amendment himself "if I thought a congressional committee was trying to get me to strangle myself with my tongue."

The climactic sensation last week was an assertion by Cain that Mr. Eisenhower was kept so "isolated" by his associates, especially his top aide, Sherman Adams, that he did not know what was going on.

Coincidentally, Mrs. Cain said she had taken a job to help support the family on expectation that her husband would be fired when his term expires next August.

Such was the background of Cain's admission to the executive office shortly before quitting time a week ago last Thursday afternoon. It was 2 o'clock the next morning when Mr. Eisenhower was awakened by the now historic severe intestinal pains.

LAST TUESDAY, Cain testified before the Senate subcommittee on constitutional rights that one of the so-called "loyalty cases" he described to the President had made him indignant.

Cain himself, emerged from the session looking nervous and distraught. Asked by one reporter, "Did you get hell?" he hesitated a long moment, then said he thought he had answered that question earlier by stating he could not have been "treated more generously, courteously, or in more friendly fashion."

But Cain also had said previously that "it was just like a seminar"—that the President's questions were "penetrating and searching in his ambition that this program shall equate the needs of internal security with the rights of free citizens."

Certainly the latter statement was different from Cain's assertion a few days ago that the President didn't know what was going on because his assistants "fed him only varnish."

Two factors presumably made the Cain accusations annoying to Mr. Eisenhower:

First, since he had picked Cain out of the political gutter for the subversive activities post, he expected at least that the official so appointed would come to him first when he had complaints to make.

Second, it is strongly suspected that Mr. Eisenhower never has liked the business of subjecting all government employes to Secret Service raking-over and in consequence really agrees with the sort of criticism that last Monday was affirmed by a majority of the Supreme Court.

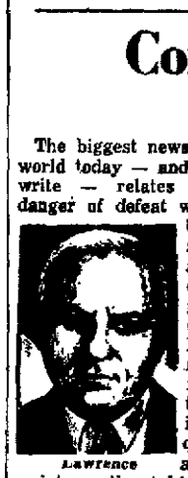
Conventional Arms Still Needed

By David Lawrence

The biggest news story in the world today — and the hardest to write — relates to the grave danger of defeat which faces the United States and its allies at the hands of the Soviet gangsters who control the largest single military apparatus of all times. It isn't solely a question of atomic bombs or intercontinental bombers or missiles. Even if the United States Congress appropriated all the money the Air Force is asking for, it wouldn't alter the situation. The next war may never see atomic weapons of any kind used because of the danger of mutual destruction. Hence, the potential value of conventional armies with conventional navies and air forces and conventional bombs becomes more important than ever before, coincident with some form of counter-strategy to meet the infiltration of smaller countries by the enemy.



Lawrence

What stands out as the central fact about the whole problem is the virtual certainty that neither side will use atomic bombs or weapons because public opinion in all countries will prohibit their use. Nuclear war will not be tolerated.

The threat of conventional war, therefore, will take its place. In this the United States and its allies are woefully weak. They have not awakened to the need of this deterrent, too.

The truth is a paradox — General Le May is right in wanting all the air power he can get as a deterrent and Generals Ridgway and Taylor are right also in wanting all the conventional arms they can get as a deterrent.

The three armed services are right on the whole in emphasizing the need for more of each of their respective forces. Their disputes reflect an honest groping for some solution to the most difficult problem American has ever faced.

THE REAL FACTOR of fear is derived from the prospect that, even though no international agreement exists or may exist, the aggressors will, of their own volition, refrain from the use of any nuclear weapons. Then what?

Would the western allies ever initiate the use of such weapons in defense and thus invite retaliation? Military men are confident that the answer will be "yes." Political governments — civilians who control them — will have the decision and the consensus of many U.S. civilian officials here and in Europe is that the answer will be "no."

The idea of "race suicide" and of "wiping the human race from the face of the earth" has been so widely advertised everywhere that what began as a Communist propaganda line a few years ago — when the Soviet government was in an inferior and unprepared status with respect to the manufacture of superbombs — now has been endorsed inside the United States by high officials, scientists, spokesmen for the church and many sections of the press.

It seems clear that no civilian government in the free world will ever authorize the initial use of atomic weapons.

All this means is that as the chances of a nuclear war grow remote, due to the stalemate in superbomb strength and the state of public opinion on both sides of the Iron Curtain, the military control of the world will go to those governments which have the advantage in conventional arms.

As a result, Moscow and Peiping will dominate both Europe and Asia. Western Europe, which has up to now considered itself protected by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, will discover in due time the fallacy of the "new look" in military organization.

Dimunition of ground forces and the arming of remaining divisions with nuclear weapons merely emphasizes the danger that Moscow would conquer western Europe without firing a single shot, because nuclear weapons would never be used.

THE SOVIETS have offered to reduce their land armies by 1,200,000 men. This, however, is a small proportion of their total. It is a clever maneuver designed to get the West to deplete its far smaller armies.

The Communists, coincidentally, have begun their "parliamentary offensive," which means infiltration in the parliaments of western Europe and a stepped-up activitiy inside the United States, where already three Supreme Court Justices say that Communist activity is just "another political party.

Thus, on the political front as well as on the military front, the Communists are threatening. The whole answer doesn't lie merely in spending more money for air power or in spending more money than ever before to mobilize ground armies — even though both are necessary.

It lies basically in the principle reiterated a few days ago by Secretary of State Dulles, when he said:

"There is only one cure for the evils of the imposed Soviet dictatorship — that is government which derives its powers from the consent of the governed. This is a lesson that history teaches, that Khrushchev confirms and which needs to be applied if we are to have a world society of peace and justice."

THIS IS BUT another way of saying that the peoples of the Soviet Union and the satellite states hold the key to peace. They must be persuaded to choose a free government.

It's the only thing that can truly make the world safe for the continuance of democratic governments anywhere. It requires a job of infiltration and conversion through every avenue of moral force.

It's a job which the West has all too long neglected.

Dear Nephew: Summertime is here at last, and I am gasping like a fish out of water. We never have time to adjust ourselves.

When I finally get my blood thinned down to warm-weather efficiency, winter will come, and I'll have to start thickening it up to anti-freeze specifications again.

We have been eating strawberries fresh out of the patch for the last few days, though, and I am strong for strawberries as blood-thinners. Also green onions and beet greens. But beet greens are going to be late this year.

In the meantime, I have been eating sour grass. The dog and I go on walks together and when we find a patch of sour grass we graze on it until we are satisfied. This is the only thing our old dog is good for — finding the right grass to eat. Instead of being useful for hunting birds, wild boars, or wolves, this one is a grass-pointer.

In answer to your inquiry about the family reunion, we have been talking about it and have decided that it should be held here this summer, instead of in that public park where they have held it the last few years.

The date is the third Sunday in August, and we are hoping for a good turnout if we get the word circulated in advance. Although the turnouts in recent years have been disappointing, it is my opinion they were that way because the notices were sent out late.

This applies directly to you, because you cannot very well be busy this year with this much advance notice, can you? If you will bring your whole family, that alone will make up a large part of the previous deficit in attendance. Make a note of it. The third Sunday in August is reserved for family ties.

Your aunt and I are arguing again about shorts for summer comfort. Actually, what she is doing is to try to make a convert of me so she won't feel so conspicuous, but I am being firm.

What I tell her is that she always did have the best looking legs in the township, even before women's legs became a visible asset, whereas I never claimed anything for my legs, except that they reached the ground and held me up. As I look back over the years, my legs never did credit to the rest of me. They always have been purely functional.

So I am continuing to dress for comfort and not for ostentation and hope you will do the same, because I remember that you have nothing to be proud of in the underpinning department, either

There is no news here. No oil wells have been brought in, and no one has discovered uranium. The poor farmers are slugging it out with adversity and hoping they will be spared an early frost, because their corn will be late.

Convey our regards to all members of the family, with the fervent hope that your student offspring are appreciating their classrooms now that they are confined to workshops.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Thoughts for Father's Day

Consider father. He can use what little applause you give him, even if it arouses his deep suspicions. He has what it takes. But the family takes it too fast.

He is the major domo, the chief, the headman and the top boss on paper. But he invites trouble if he tries to prove it.

He provides the money, the promises, the headwork and the energy, and does it to a chorus of "Yes, but what can you do for an encore?"

He is the only member of the family whose high blood pressure is regarded as routine. He sweats, strives, directs and builds. And has to listen patiently to "Why should you feel tired?"

He has to run, kick, pass, provide his own interference and never run the wrong way with the ball five days a week ... and put in the week end as a patient chauffeur so the wife and kids can relax!

Popper has to have the fortitude of Davy Crockett (without the hat), the energy of Edison, the versatility of Mickey Mantle and the brains of Professor Einstein.

But he must admit that his is not up to the rest of the family when it comes to setting up outdoor folding furniture, building a barbecue-grill fire or choosing picnic grounds.

HE IS SUPPOSED to be infallible in his decisions, faultless in the execution of a mission and patient in tough going. But he can be dumped swiftly into last place ratings if he reads a road map wrong or leaves the electric icebox door ajar.

He may be Mister Wonderman at the office, but he's strictly Mister Left-on-Bases around the house, except on Christmas morning.

His brains may have provided the two-car garage, the country house and the yacht. But if he is no help setting out nasturtiums, fixing the auto-clock or planning a dance he is considered 100 per cent bushleague.

—:—

HE TOILS FOR years, develops ulcers and ignores heart murmurs year after year; and what does he get? The admission once a year that he ain't bad, and the choice of a necktie, a box of cigars or a jug of rum. (For which he will get the bill under the category of household miscellaneous expenses.)

He is called irascible if he raises his voice when nobody is listening. He is described as "hard to live with" if he registers disapproval when the expenses exceed the income and bank balance.

He is classified as "that man" when he won't let the Newfoundland dog sleep at the foot of his bed.

But on Father's Day it's different. He becomes quite a guy for 24 hours, give or take a day or a night. Brace yourself, popper! The day after the celebration it's back to work, fast thinking, muscle pains, headaches as usual and the old cry, "I have to have more money this week!"

JOE Q. CITIZEN is left pretty groggy by Supreme Court decision that Commie suspects can't be dropped if on "nonsensitive" government jobs. . .Ya mean Uncle Sam has got to be positive a man is in a position to cut his throat before he can bench him?

Chancellor Adenauer, getting a degree at Yale, warned that the Russian eleven is full of trick plays and seemed to hint that the free world needed old-fashioned Yale plunging backs, fleet ends and sturdy tackles.

It is now charged that Joe Stalin has a super harem. . .We always supposed he regarded sex as capitalistic.

Travelers Get Relaxation in Pioneer Town

MINDEN, Neb (INS) — The Pioneer Village, at Minden, is one of several places along the Platte River Valley where cross-country motorists can relax after several monotonous hours of driving across the open plains.

The Pioneer Village is located on U. S. Highway 6, south of the Platte, about midway between Omaha and Denver. It is a few miles south of U. S. Highway 30, which follows the north side of the Platte River.

The Village consists of a dozen 19th Century type buildings, including a general store, a church, a school house, a land office, and a railroad depot. Each of the buildings, spread over several city blocks, is furnished in exact detail as it appeared in grandpa's day.

A real sod house, with an occasional weed growing out of the wall, displays the kitchen, living room and bedroom equipment needed to survive as a Great Plains pioneer.

The main building of the Village contains a large collection of antique autos, old airplanes, old farm tractors and almost every kind of horse-drawn vehicle from a genuine covered wagon to a rare European gypsy wagon.

For the children, there are push-button displays in which the kids can make big machines work, with the aid of concealed electric motors. There also is playground equipment at the country school house and, at the railroad depot, a real steam locomotive they can board and play "engineer."

Good motel units and restaurants are conveniently close to the Pioneer Village.

Russian Pair Missed Special Oxford Stunt

NEW YORK (NANA) — Walter Duranty, former New York Times correspondent in Russia who won a Pulitzer Prize, used to tell a story he swore was true. When Stalin was supposed to have had a heart attack a few years before his death, a celebrated specialist was summoned to his bedside from Vienna. After he arrived in Moscow and was escorted in to the patient, he found not one but three Stalins, all looking exactly alike.

The good doctor was instructed to examine each one and make his diagnosis. He didn't know which man was the real McCoy. After he left and was in a position to voice his suspicions, he confided to close friends what he believed to be the purpose of the deception. If he had examined the dictator alone, he would have to give a favorable verdict — otherwise Stalin might have been discouraged, annoyed, and trigger happy. In short, he might have been shot.

Now the old man must be spinning in his grave, if he can hear the disagreeable remarks being made about him by his successors and erstwhile yes men. According to them, he isn't fit to sleep with pigs — or capitalists.

When Bulganin and Khrushchev on their recent tour of England visited Oxford, they were scheduled to pause at Christ College, one of the most dignified in the university. Suddenly the police inspector leading the procession veered off the route and by-passed the scheduled stop. The conducting officer was puzzled by this shift and, as soon as possible, inquired about the reason.

"Why didn't you stop at Christ College?" demanded the official escort.

"Because I don't think our visitors would have liked what they would have found there," he replied. "There were six students, all made up as Stalin, waiting as a reception committee to greet them. They were certainly disappointed when the Russians didn't show up."

Sylvester (Pat) Weaver president of the National Broadcasting Company, told another anecdote of the visit which he said he had read in the Manchester Guardian about a speech Khrushchev was making in Edinburgh. He was surprised when following the translation by the interpreter of one of his profound statements, the audience burst into laughter. It turned out he had said:

"There is an old Russian saying I would like to quote here which is 'Moscow was not built in a day.'" He still doesn't know the cause for the unexpected mirth.

Blooming Flowers Are Galion Artist's Subjects

GALION — The natural beauty of one of the most spectacular flower gardens in Galion is brought indoors via the paint brush on chinaware, in pictures and also in the designs for many ceramics. This is in evidence on a visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Firestone, in Galion.

Currently the Firestones are welcoming citizens of Galion and the community to see their garden which is in full bloom at this season.

A PIANO TEACHER, Mrs. Firestone has a natural talent for painting and other art work although she has never studied for it. Hundreds of pieces of hand-painted china in her home, as well as many pieces she has idistributed among her friends, have original designs with the flowers of her garden reflected in them. The designs for her pictures are original with garden subjects predominating.

One look at the Firestone garden, shows it belongs to one who is interested in music and painting. On a lot approximately 350 feet long by 66 feet wide are planted many varieties of flowers so closely that there is only room for a footpath and cultivation.

The luxuriant growth and sturdiness of each plant and bush is what is most striking to the visitor. The garden is a riot of color with its huge Oriental poppies, 189 peonies now in bloom and the hundreds of roses which are now coming into season. Mrs. Firestone has every one of Brownell's roses with 125 pillar climbers. From now until frost the garden will be in bloom. Most of the roses are everblooming and her garden includes phlox and other late-blooming flowers.

MRS. FIRESTONE spends many hours working in her garden when she is not lending her talents for various groups of the city. She is vice president of the Flower Show which will be held in August by the garden clubs of the city. She also is vice president of the North End Garden club.

Musically, Mrs. Firestone plays for weddings and home talent productions besides teaching piano. In the era of the silent-screen movies she was pianist in a local theater.

New Federal Program Aids Ohio CD Setup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Maj. Gen. Lee M. Kreber, Ohio adjutant general and state civil defense director, says new federally-supported program will enable Ohio to perfect existing survival plans.

Kreber said Cleveland, Columbus, Canton and Dayton already have begun actual formulation of plans under federal sponsorship.

Under the unified state survival plan project, Ohio has developed a survival plan on the basis of the entire state rather than of individual cities, he explained.

Because of the great number of critical target cities in Ohio, individual city survival studies were not feasible, Kreber said. Conflicts of evacuation and support might arise among cities such as Cleveland, Canton and Akron because of their near proximity.

Studies will be conducted in each of the nine critical target areas of the state, he said.

Other Ohio cities scheduled to begin preliminary studies under the survival plan include Steubenville, Cincinnati, Akron, Youngstown and Toledo.

Warning Issued By Fire Marshal Against Fireworks

A warning that the use of fireworks to celebrate the Fourth of July is illegal in Ohio except in public displays properly supervised, was issued today by Charles R. Scott, state fire marshal.

"The traditional way of celebrating our independence as a free nation is by shooting off fireworks. Each year through their enthusiasm to celebrate this independence, many people are killed or badly burned as a result of this practice," he said.

"What good is this freedom that our ancestors fought so hard for if we sacrifice it by being killed or badly burned or disfigured for life?" he asked.

Urging Ohioans to obey the law and celebrate the Fourth in a safe and sane manner, Mr. Scott asked that fireworks displays be left up to trained persons at public displays.

Theater Attractions

Following is a summary of the motion pictures that will be presented at theaters in Marion next week.

—Palace—

"The Broken Star," a story of old Tucson in the late 80s, plus "Unidentified Flying Objects," will be the double feature attraction Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Palace Theater.

The former stars Howard Duff, Lita Baron and Bill Williams. The action centers upon the plight of Howard Duff, a United States Deputy Marshal who murders a rancher for his money. Lita Baron is seen as the cousin of the dead rancher and is a singer in a dance hall, who is in love with Bill Williams, also a Deputy Marshal.

Williams pursues Duff and finds him in a deserted mine in the Arizona mountains and a gun battle follows.

"Unidentified Flying Objects" tells in graphic and dramatic form all the known facts about flying objects which the press and people in general have dubbed "flying saucers," are shown in detail in the picture. But both end in questions.

Wednesday through Saturday, a double feature will include "Foreign Intrigue" starring Robert Mitchum, and "Quincannon, Frontier Scout" starring Tony Martin.

"Foreign Intrigue," in color, features in supporting roles Genevieve Page and Ingrid Tulean. The story involves the death of an international tycoon on the French Riviera which soon envelops his public relations man, Robert Mitchum, in a quest for four of the most evil men in Europe.

Co-starred with Tony Martin in "Quincannon, Frontier Scout" are Peggie Castle, John Bromfield, John Smith and Ron Randell. It is set against the post Civil War era along the Bozeman Trail and the Indian territor. The story is of a hard-bitten cavalry captain who disowns the Army.

Later, because of his knowledge of Indians and plainscraft, he is commissioned as a civilian scout to locate a shipment of Army rifles confiscated by an Indian tribe in an attack on a freighter-wagon train. The whole situation meant that the Cheyenne and Arapahoes and Red Cloud's Sioux could ride against the white invaders.

The attraction for this week's Thursday afternoon kiddies show will be "Hell and High Water."

—Ohio—

Opening in a midnight show tonight at the Ohio Theater and then playing Sunday through Wednesday will be a double feature, "Swamp Women" starring Marie Windsor, Carole Matthews and Beverly Garland, plus "Blonde Bait" with Beverly Michaels, Jim Davis, Joan Rice, Richard Travis and Paul Cavanagh.

Filmed on location in the swamp lands of the Louisiana bayou, "Swamp Women" tells the story of four girls who escape prison in order to gain possession of a hidden diamond fortune buried deep in the bayou.

They encounter every sort of danger including snakes, alligators, treacherous swamp waters and also the danger to each other as they vie for the affection of a handsome male whom they hold captive.

A woman's prison story is revealed in "Blonde Bait." It tells the story of a stage star who becomes involved in a murder and is unknowingly used as bait to track down a murderous traitor by a State Department investigator.

Showing Thursday, Friday and Saturday as a double feature will be "The Animal World," in technicolor, plus "Good-bye, My Lady."

"The Animal World" is a story of animal life from its prehistoric beginning to the present. It tells a story that began two billion years ago and is still unfolding. Three years in the making, it shows for the first time battles between prehistoric dinosaurs that roamed the earth's surface some 70 million years ago.

"Good-bye, My Lady" stars Walter Brennan, Phil Harris and Brandon de Wilde. It is a story about an old man, a boy who had to grow up all of a sudden and a strange dog that changed their lives.

The story begins with the discovery by young Skeeter (Brandon de Wilde) and Uncle Jesse (Walter Brennan) of a strange dog hiding in the swamplands which surround their cabin. Soon boy and dog become inseparable friends but the dog's fame as an oddity spreads beyond the regions of the back country.

When the rightful owner of the dog appears to claim her, Skeeter, despite his tender years, is allowed to decide for himself what is the right thing to do.

RHONDA FLEMING and Arlene Dahl become targets for bachelors and bullets in "Slightly Scarlet," technicolor drama which will be one of two first-run features billed for Wednesday through Saturday at the North Drive-In Theater. John Payne also is starred.

—North Drive-In—

"Desert Sands," adventure drama in Superscope and technicolor and starring Ralph Meeker, Marla English and J. Carrol Naish, plus "The Rose Tattoo," filmization of Tennessee Williams' Pulitzer Prize winner, will be shown Sunday through Tuesday at the North Drive-In Theater.

Co-stars of "Desert Sands" are John Carradine, John Smith, Ron Randell and Keith Larsen. The story is concerned with a company of Foreign Legionnaires trying to hold a desert stronghold against a maddened horde of Arabs. Ralph Meeker plays the captain in charge of the company.

"The Rose Tattoo," starring Burt Lancaster and Anna Magnani and featuring Marisa Pavan and Ben Cooper, is the story of a woman who retreated from the world to live in the past with the memory of her husband. But fate forces her out into the world and brings her the strangest courtship a woman ever knew.

Two first-run features billed for Wednesday through Saturday are "Slightly Scarlet" starring John Payne, Arlene Dahl and Rhonda Fleming, plus "Stranger At My Door" with Macdonald Carey, Patricia Medina and Skip Homeier.

"Slightly Scarlet" is a drama of graft and corruption in a Pacific Coast metropolis. John Payne portrays a smooth, fast-talking operator who's not exactly crooked, not exactly straight, but caught in the web of graft in which he moves. He draws an assignment to investigate the personal life of Rhonda Fleming, private secretary to Kent Taylor, reform candidate for mayor.

He has a particular interest in the assignment because he knows Rhonda may be a means of catapulting him into the shoes of the city's crime syndicate boss. He also knows that Rhonda's red-headed sister, Arlene Dahl, is a confirmed kleptomaniac with a jail record and that Taylor is interested in Rhonda.

"Stranger At My Door" concerns a notorious gunman, a courageous preacher and his beautiful wife. As the story opens, Homeier and his gang hold up a western bank and escape after turning loose all the horses in town and overturning the wagons to prevent the citizens from following them. On the outskirts of the town they divide the loot and separate. When his horse comes up lame, Homeier starts out on foot and runs into a young boy who invites him to the farm of his preacher father to treat the horse. The preacher arrives with news of the bank robbery and his suspicions are aroused when Homeier attempts to escape with one of the farm horses.

—South Drive-In—

"The Outlaw," story of the lawless days of the Old West, and "Illegal," will be shown Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the South Drive-In Theater. "The Outlaw" tells the dramatic story of Billy, the West's most famous outlaw, and of Rio who loved him.

A single feature showing Wednesday and Thursday will be "A Man Called Peter" starring Richard Todd and Jean Peters.

The story is adapted from a book about the life of the late Peter Marshall and written by his wife.

A double feature showing Friday and Saturday will include "Bad Day At Black Rock" starring Spencer Tracy and Robert Ryan, plus "Running Wild", with William Campbell, Mamie Van Doren, Keenan Wynn and Kathleen Case.

Our Presidents

By Patrick and Vinmont

MILLARD FILLMORE

Son of a poor farmer. Born January 7, 1800, in Cayuga County, New York. Grew up in a log cabin on the frontier, where he attended school until 14. Boyhood ambition was to be a sailor. Favorite pastime: reading. Enjoyed fishing, hunting, traveling.

When 15, he was bound out as apprentice to learn the trade of a woolcarder. Four years later, advised by a friendly lawyer to change his occupation, he began to study law, and taught school to earn his way. Admitted to the bar in 1823. At 29, a member of New York Assembly; for eight years a member of Congress, where he won a place among the first statesmen of his day through his ability and honesty. At 44, defeated for governorship of New York; at 47, elected State Controller. On the strength of his having carried New York for this post, the Whigs nominated him the next year for Vice President with Taylor. Fate made him President.

The second Vice President to be promoted by death, he became the thirteenth President of the United States July 9, 1850, serving two years and eight months. Slavery was the chief issue during his administration. He signed the Fugitive Slave law. The enforcement of it further complicated matters when the "underground railroad," which helped slaves escape from the South to Canada, sprang into existence. Commodore Mathew Perry was sent to open up relations with Japan, which had refused to admit any visitors. Various important exploring expeditions were sponsored.

His efforts achieved cheap postage; but with a political minority in both houses of Congress, many other wise measures he recommended failed of adoption. Four years after his unsuccessful effort to succeed himself, he was nominated by both the Know-Nothing and Whig parties, but was defeated in the election of 1856. He retired to his home in Buffalo, where he died March 8, 1874, aged 74.

State Is Urged To Take Action On Cedar Point

CLEVELAND (AP)—The president of the National Industrial Recreation Assn. Friday urged the development of Cedar Point into a state park.

"Cedar Point with its wonderful beach can be made one of the most beautiful vacation spots in the nation," said Ben M. Kozman, head of the recreation group. "Keeping Cedar Point for all the people of Ohio is one of the greatest conservation projects this state could undertake. It is one of our best natural assets and should never be allowed to become the summer hideaway of a few wealthy persons."

Cedar Point has been a private amusement park and vacation spot for many years.

Private interests had announced they were purchasing the point for a housing development.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche has indicated the matter may be considered by the special session of the Legislature meeting later this month.

Kozman, activities manager for Thompson Products, said Cedar Point once turned over to housing or industry "can never be turned back to nature in the grandeur that once was there."

Milwaukee Slips Up, No Beer For Adenauer on Official Visit

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of the federal republic of Germany visited Milwaukee for a few hours Friday and left with an honorary degree, an authentic indian headdress and a "strengthened conviction" that the people of the United States and Germany have the same goals.

But just before his airliner left the ground for Bonn he said his visit to Milwaukee, a city that has welcomed thousands of his countrymen as new citizens, produced one disappointment:

"Here I am in Milwaukee," he said, "and I didn't get a single glass of beer."

The 80-year-old leader of West Germany accepted an honorary doctor of laws degree from Marquette University in a civic ceremony in the Milwaukee Auditorium that was witnessed by 4,000 people. It was the first degree that Adenauer, a devout Roman Catholic, had received from a Catholic university.

Morris Wheelock, a chief of the Oneida Indian nation, said earlier Adenauer was honored for "leading his people out of the wilderness. We shall ask the great spirit to give you divine guidance."

Adenauer was also given the indian name, Lavachiolu, meaning wise leader of many men.

As Adenauer stood on the steps leading to the airliner, he turned to the crowd and said the people of the United States and Germany "have the same goals, the same ideas — to defend the freedom of the world."

He waved, shouted "Auf wiedersehn," and entered the plane for the trip home. He had been in Milwaukee less than six hours.

Recruit Hangs Self at Marine Training Base

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The Marine Corps said an 18-year-old recruit hanged himself Friday, leaving a note clearing his drill instructors of any blame.

"This is to certify," the note said, "that nothing any of my drill instructors in the Marine Corps have done to me has affected my dismissal from life."

His identity was withheld.

The note said he loved the Marine Corps and "I would like for my girl to know I died with a great love for her in my heart."

The recruit, at the training depot since June 4, was described by drill instructors as quiet, conscientious and of unusual promise in leadership ability. He had been made a squad leader.

His note said: "I have known for a long time that I was no good to the world and the last couple of years have just been leading up to this. I have never had the guts before, and I guess now I don't have the guts the Marines need. I love the Marines."

ilar bills have been introduced by Sens. Eastland (D-Miss) and McCarthy (R-Wis), and in the House by Rep. Walter (D-Pa).

Eastland, who heads the Judiciary Committee to which the Senate bills have been referred, has said he would press for prompt action, adding "it would be hard to imagine a deadlier blow to the security of our country" than the court's action.

Cotton, who is a member of the bipartisan commission created by Congress to study the whole security program, said he is convinced that whatever system is in effect "should extend to the whole government and to all its employes."

The commission reportedly is planning to meet here this weekend and is expected to discuss the effect of the court's decision.

The Justice Department has not indicated whether it favors new legislation or whether it believes the situation can be met by revising President Eisenhower's 1953 executive order setting up the security program.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) kicked off the Wisconsin convention Friday night with a blast at Eisenhower. Humphrey said the Republicans are "substituting popularity for leadership and mediocrity for principles."

Humphrey said "I'm not blaming Eisenhower's lieutenants for his mistakes—he's responsible for his agents."

Schools in Five States Receive Help of Depot

A total of $376,505 was donated by the Marion Engineer Depot during May to schools in the district composed of Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin, according to Donna I. Donations are made through the General Service Administration, Health, Education and Welfare Division and tax-supported schools may obtain surplus and excess property by contacting the state surplus property director in Columbus.

Steel

end of the talks' first round:

1. The Big Three contract proposal was disclosed officially. It offered a package estimated by the companies to be cumulatively worth 65 cents an hour over five years, 17 2-3 cents the first year alone. It contained, for steel, several precedent-setting clauses, such as a layoff pay plan and premium rates for weekend work. It called for a no-strike five-year term. And the combined managements disclosed they had offered to negotiate a cost-of-living clause.

2. The steelworkers' Wage Policy Committee, with 170 members, met for less than an hour and rejected the offer. McDonald said the vote was unanimous.

3. Stephens said at a press conference the steel companies would not budge from nor would they add a penny to their over-all offer.

4. Both sides promised to work for a settlement. McDonald said he was still hopeful one could be reached.

Expires June 30

The present contract expires June 30.

The Big Three employ about 350,000 of steel's 650,000 workers. These talks, however, normally set the pattern for the industry.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics has estimated the present average hourly wage in steel at $2.46.

The companies' offer, McDonald said, would add to basic rates not quite 7½ cents this July and 37 cents by July 1960.

McDonald called it "picayune."

USW statisticians put the overall, five-year increase not at 65 cents but at around 45 cents.

The union has asked a "substantial" but unspecified wage boost, time and a half for Saturday work and double time on Sundays, a 52-week layoff pay plan and various welfare and health insurance benefits.

Claim Cost Rise

To put these into effect would hike employment costs about 25 per cent, the Big Three replied.

The industry experienced four to eight-week strikes in 1946, 1949 and 1952. There was a 12-hour strike last year.

Heretofore contracts have run for two years, with wage reopeners in the in-between years. The industry is insisting on a five-year pact in the interest of "stability."

The industry offered in the new contract to pay 10 cents an hour extra for Sunday work, raising it to 12 cents a year later.

The supplemental pay plan in the event of layoff would guarantee workers benefits equal to 65 per cent of their take-home pay, minus whatever they got in state unemployment insurance. Lump sum payments would be made to workers in Indiana, Ohio and Virginia, where authorities have ruled workers may not get both at the same time.

Hospital at Upper Accepts Donations

UPPER SANDUSKY — Recent gifts to Wyandot Memorial Hospital were recognized Friday as the hospital Board of Governors voted resolutions of acknowledgement and appreciation for a $5,000 check to be used for the establishment of a physiotherapy department and for six new air conditioning units.

The check for the new department was the gift of Van Courtright Walton of Columbus, a former resident of Upper Sandusky, in memory of his parents, the late Andrew Everett and Ollie Marie (Courtright) Walton, who were longtime residents of Upper Sandusky.

The air conditioning units installed in various departments at the hospital were presented by Mrs. W. E. Martin of Upper Sandusky.

CWA Rejects Proposal To Split District Four

CLEVELAND (AP)—A proposal to split the Communication Workers of America's District Four, composed of Michigan and Ohio, was turned down Thursday by delegates attending the CWA's national convention.

Ohio leaders fought for a separate district for Ohio, saying the change would eliminate friction between CWA units in the two states.

The opposition argued that establishment of a new district for Ohio' woul ' be contrary to a program adopted by the union in 1952 which revamped and streamlined organizational structure.

As to the President's recuperation, Hagerty said he was put on this regimen: two ounces each of tea, hot water and broth sipped from a cup one hour apart in rotation; no more tubes, no more intravenous injections, although the doctors would not say they might not return to this to supplement the hourly fluid; a small walk in the morning and afternoon; catnaps and brief periods sitting up in an easy chair.

Hagerty said that the anticoagulants, which the President had been taking to thin his blood since his Denver heart attack, had not yet been restored to the President's medication list. He stopped taking them last Friday, when he was stricken. Hagerty said Eisenhower is still expected to leave the hospital after completing a 15-day stay.

the youths turned onto a sideroad at the west edge of Indianapolis, then turned into a driveway. The three youths escaped on foot.

None of the three was found in a search of the area, but Stout and Dodson, while cruising later, spotted Schneider and Yates trying to hitchhike a ride a mile farther east.

The search continued for Kelly.

Deputies found the submachinegun, a shotgun and two rifles in the Horton car after the youths fled.

The Yates boy told officers Schneider had come to his home in Chicago Friday morning, and they decided to steal a car and run away. They were arrested when they stopped for gasoline at a filling station near Hillsboro.

Yates said they immediately began working out a plan with Kelly, who was already in jail, to overpower the jailer.

Four other prisoners stayed behind when the three escaped.

He turned west on Vine St. and traveled a short distance before striking the left side of a parked car owned by LeRoy Hildebrand, 31, near LaRue. Kucks Beats Indians 6-2 as Yanks Batter Garcia

Mantle Hits 23rd Homer; Contest Is Played in Haze

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians waded out of a flooded dugout into a steamy haze and were squelched by New York's Johnny Kucks, 6-2, Friday night.

A drenching rain stopped just before game time, filling the dugout knee-deep in spots, and leaving 34,025 fans sitting in steam and tobacco smoke so thick high flies sailed out of sight and the scoreboard was nearly invisible.

In the first inning, Mickey Mantle sailed one somewhere over the left field fence, scoring rookie Norm Siebern ahead of him. It was Mantle's 23rd homer of the year.

From the start, Kucks, a 22-year-old righthander, had Cleveland batters in a fog. Until the eighth inning he didn't let anybody reach second base, and only four got to first. Al Rosen hit two singles. Hal Naragon was hit by a pitched ball and walked.

The Yanks chased Mike Garcia with four runs on six hits in the fifth inning. After that they didn't get a man on base off Don Mossi and Bud Daley.

The biggest Cleveland crowd of the season, 34,025, got its first cheer in the eighth, when Jim Busby led off with a homer.

The Indians added an unearned run in the ninth, when Siebern, making his major league debut, dropped Al Smith's fly for a two-base error. Smith scored on two successive outfield flies.

Kucks' three-hitter was his third victory in four decisions against the Indians this season. The only time the Indians beat him was on May 14th, when Bob Lemon threw a three-hitter for Cleveland.

Tonight the Indians send Herb Score, who has been ill for two weeks, against young Tom Sturdivant.

Needles Seen Belmont Victor

NEW YORK (AP) — Needles and Fabius lead the post parade for the 88th Belmont Stakes today, and the puzzling uncertainties of racing promise to make this one of the most interesting 3-year-old duels in the history of the turf classic.

The chips are down in this $100,000-added tussle, a tough once around the mile and one half Belmoont Park oval, where champions have been crowned since 1905.

Nine colts were entered for the final jewel in the famed triple crown series, and horsemen could find something good to say about the chances of at least five of the contenders.

Needles copped the Kentucky Derby May 5, coming from next to last place in a field of 17 to swarm past Fabius near the finish for a three-quarter length victory. But two weeks later the Calumet Farm's Fabius took the lead in the Preakness, and despite another late rush by Needles, held on to win by a length and three-quarters.

A crowd of some 35,000, depending upon the weather which is expected to be in the upper 80s with possible showers, probably will send Needles off as the favorite at around 4-5. Fabius was 3-1 in the early line.

Machado Is Withdrawn From Fight With Basilio

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Fight promoter Jack Laken says he has withdrawn Cuba's Felix Machado from a bout with former welterweight champion Carmen Basilio because Machado does not have what Laken calls an impressive record.

The fight had been scheduled for Monday night at the Dayton Motor Speedway.

Laken said Basilio's managers turned down a choice of two other fighters to go the 10 rounds.

Columbus Racing Time Is Advanced

Columbus United Stockcar racing at Powell Speedway will start fifteen minutes earlier tonight. The first race will start at 8:15 p.m. Qualifying will begin as usual at 7 o'clock.

Work on widening the quarter-mile by an additional 15 feet in many spots was completed by paving contractors earlier this week. Fans will see more action, with much faster times as the cars are let out at full power.

Jack Bowsher, absent from the local tracks last weekend is touted to return to the speed battles locally this week. If he does, he'll have his hands full with Ralph O'Day and Dick Good, CUSI feature winners during his sojourn.

Neal Sceva, Ossie Osborn, Johnny Wymer, Paul Hunsberger, Bill Clemans and Chuck Engel will round out a 50-car CUSI starting field.

Tigers Set Tryout Camp at Prospect

A two-day tryout camp will be conducted by the Detroit Tigers at Prospect next week end for professional baseball hopefuls in the Marion area.

Scheduled for Friday and Saturday at Prospect Community Park, youths who are juniors or seniors in high school or older are invited to attend the tryouts.

The Friday morning program will include Little and Pony League demonstrations and instruction beginning at 11 a.m. All area Little and Pony League squads and managers are invited.

Tryouts are scheduled that afternoon from 1 to 5 p.m., and a game among the remaining youths Saturday will close out the two-day camp. Players are requested to bring spikes, gloves and uniforms to the tryouts.

Reds Lose To Giants in 11 Innings

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—It took Albert (Red) Schoendienst just one swing to earn a warm spot in the hearts of fans of the New York Giants, who edged the Cincinnati Redlegs, 4-3, in 11 innings Friday night.

Schoendienst, the most celebrated of the four ex-Cardinals who figured in the recent trade between St. Louis and New York, was sitting in front of Whitey Lockman's old locker before Friday night's game against Cincinnati when Manager Billy Rigney approached him.

"How's the wing, Red?" Rigney asked. "Ready to give it a try?"

Schoendienst shook his head sadly. "No, Rig," he said. "I'm afraid the arm is still too sore to try it out. May take another two or three days before I can throw. But it doesn't bother me hitting. I'll be ready to pinch hit whenever you want me."

The 33-year-old redhead proved true to his word.

The Giants were trailing 3-1 in the seventh when rookie shortstop Eddie Bressoud walked. Rigney, remembering what Schoendienst had said, summoned Red out of the dugout to pinch hit for southpaw Johnny Antonelli.

The Giants' new second baseman watched two strikes hook over the plate, then leaned into the next pitch by righthander Johnny Klippstein and whacked it deep into the upper right field stands for a game-tying home run.

The crowd of more than 11,000 cheered itself hoarse over Red's dramatic blow, in his first time at bat as a Giant and Schoendienst's new teammates joined the long-suffering fans in giving him a hero's welcome when he returned to the dugout.

The deadline for major league trading passed Friday night without the Redlegs acquiring that fifth starting pitcher they need.

General Manager Gabe Paul said just before the final hour, "The Giants weren't interested in swapping any of their front-line hurlers. It was pretty much the same story with the Cubs and Phillies. The other clubs, like us, were also looking for pitchers."

The Reds' pitching woes were pointed up in the loss to the Giants.

A 3-3 tie was broken in the 11th inning when Redleg righthander Johnny Klippstein, who went the route for Cincinnati, walked in the winning Giant run.

The Reds scored in the first inning with a single by rookie Frank Robinson and a run-scoring triple by first-sacker Ted Kluszewski.

The last two runs came when Ray Jablonski, Ed Bailey and pinch hitter Jim Dyck were walked in succession. A single by Klippstein scored Rocky Bridges, running for Jablonski, and Bailey came home on a sacrifice fly by Johnny Temple.

The second in the four-game series with New York comes today with Art Fowler slated to oppose Al Worthington.

Hogan Is Second

Thomson's 139 Takes First Spot in U.S. Open

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Smiling and relaxed, Australia's Peter Thomson said he didn't even know Ben Hogan was in with 140—the score he had to beat—when he set out to play the second round of the U. S. Open Golf Championship.

Nobody in the thicket of listeners in Oak Hill's superheated press tent quite believed him, but who would question the word of a player who went out when the pressure was greatest and casually snatched the lead from the man who has been America's best golfer over a ten-year span.

Casual Player

Thomson is a casual sort of player, 26 years old, husky, pleasant-faced with bright blue eyes and curly black hair. American golf has been very good to him in everything but championships and today could make it almost perfect.

Going into the final 36 holes of the 56th open, Thomson was the leader with scores of 70-69—139. Hovering a stroke behind him was Hogan the hawk, the intense little man who throws fear into most golfers when he's close to them. And to Hogan, seeking to become the first player ever to win the U.S. open five times, this may be the most important tournament of all.

Well within striking range were three other former U. S. open champions. Cary Middlecoff, the lanky 1949 champion who still ranks among the top favorites here, and lame-armed Ed Furgol, the 1954 winner, were in a four way tie at 141. The others there were the 140-pound, 40-year old Jerry Barber of Los Angeles and tall, 24-year-old Wesley Ellis of River Vale, N. J.

At 142 were Julius (Moose) Boros, the 1952 champion, Arnold Palmer, 1954 amateur champion from Latrobe, Pa., who is one of the better young pros, and steady Ted Kroll of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Close Finish Seen

It could be as close and exciting a finish as any open has seen. There was a touch of sadness about it, too.

Missing after the field was reduced to the 51 players who shot 149 or better for today's 36-hole final were defending champion Jack Fleck, who beat Hogan in a dramatic playoff last year; former open champion Lew Worsham, masters champion Jackie Burke and former PGA champion Chick Harbert.

Fleck, the first champion since Sam Parks Jr., the 1935 winner, who failed to make the final 36 holes the next year, didn't even have an explanation for his failure.

"I just shot 150," he said as he left the club. "My game just wasn't good enough for this tournament."

Clement Takes Senior Golf Tourney With 144

RYE, N. Y. (AP) —Franklin G. Clement, stockbroker from Lake Forest, Ill., won the United States Seniors Golf Assn. title on his 57th birthday Friday without swinging a club.

Clement put together a 73-71—144 the first two days of the tournament and then stood on the sidelines as the last half of a field of nearly 400 failed to beat him during the last two days.

Cincinnati relief hurler Hal Jeffcoat, while with the Chicago Cubs in 1955, walked 53 batters. Twelve were walked on purpose.

Metal, Shovel And Local 750 Post Victories

Marion Metal, Marion Power Shovel and Local 750 pounded out wins in Industrial League No. 1 softball action Friday night at Garfield Park.

Standings:

Team	W.	L.
Erie No. 1	3	0
Local 750	3	1
MPS	3	1
Marion Metal	2	1
OSCO	1	2
Erie No. 2	0	3
McMillen	0	4

Local 750 blitzed Erie No. 2 18-2 with a big 14-run second inning. The Shovel nine registered a 9-2 win over McMillen and Marion Metal laced OSCO 6-2.

Marion Metal shoved three runs across the plate in the opening inning on a hit by Harbolt and two errors. Three more came home in the fifth on two base hits, a sacrifice and two miscues. Jim Frank blasted a homer for the losers in the fourth. Smith was on the hill for the winners with Wilcox going for the losers.

Marion Power Shovel notched one run in the opening inning, two in the second, one in the third, four in the fourth and one in the fifth before McMillen was able to come up with a pair of tallies in the sixth. Earl's hit in the sixth was the only safety allowed by Bud Thorpe of the winners. Three errors and a walk allowed Earl to score.

Jack Higgins banged out a home run for the winners while Bob Higgins and Don Berridge each collected two hits.

Local 750 took a 2-0 lead in the first inning on hits by Loper, Darnell, Garoger and Garrison before the uprising in the second. During the second, 14 runs came home on seven hits, three Erie errors and three walks. The winners raked two Erie pitchers for 16 base blows. Miley was on the hill for the winners and allowed only four hits. The game was called at the end of the fifth inning.

Brooklyn Making Move for NL Title

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

The fun may be about over in the National League pennant race. The World Champion Brooklyn Dodgers finally are making their move, using first division teams as stepping stones to hike into second place by winning nine of their last 11 games.

The Brooks, in fifth place and four games back when the revival started, made it five straight with a comeback 5-4 decision over Milwaukee's bumbling Braves Friday night.

Brooklyn had lost four straight and had a 19-19 record when it got into gear with a victory in the series final at Chicago June 3. Then the Dodgers went to Milwaukee and took three of four from the Braves, who opened the set in first place. Next it was two of three from Cincinnati, the leader at that point. Then a two-game sweep from St. Louis, in a virtual tie for the lead at the time.

All of that success was on the road, and in their first game back at chummy Ebbets Field, the Brooks took over the No. 2 spot vacated by Cincinnati in a 4-3 11-inning loss to the New York Giants. Pittsburgh's Pirates retained the lead—by one game and 21 percentage points—with a 12-1 victory against the Cardinals. Philadelphia and Chicago split a twinight pair, the first winning 6-5 in 10 innings, then losing 8-5.

In the less hectic American League race, the New York Yankees kept their five-game bulge as Johnny Kucks three-hit Cleveland and Mickey Mantle poled his 23rd home run for a 6-2 victory. Second place Chicago thumped Washington 7-2. Detroit tied Boston for fourth with a 5-2 decision over the Red Sox. And Baltimore defeated Kansas City 1-0.

The largest Ebbets Field crowd of the season—26,784—welcomed the Brooks home. Carl Furillo batted in three runs with four straight hits, including his sixth homer, and Al (Rube) Walker lined a bases-loaded single in the ninth to win it.

The Braves, now in fifth, have dropped 11 of their last 16 games—no help to Manager Charlie Grimm, reported on the way out after losing the confidence of owner Lou Perini.

Montreal Wins 6-5 Game With Columbus Jets

By The Associated Press

Bob Bowman, a muscular, 195-pound outfielder of the Miami Marlins, was in front in the International League home run derby today.

Bowman slugged three in the Marlins' twin victories over Buffalo, 10-2, and 11-3 to raise his total to 14. The two triumphs gave the Marlins 18 victories in their last 25 games and pulled them into a third-place tie with the Columbus Jets, who dropped a 6-5 decision to the Montreal Royals.

In other action, the Richmond Virginians turned back the Toronto Maple Leafs 10-9, and the Rochester Red Wings and the Havana Cubans split a doubleheader. The Wings took the first 8-6 and the Cubans the nightcap 5-2.

54-Year-Old Man Olympics Favorite

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — So you think that at 50 or 60 years old, you're an ancient gaffer far beyond the point of international sports competition?

Don't be silly.

Henri St. Cyr of Sweden, who won the Olympic equestrian dressage gold medal in the 1952 games in Helsinki is the favorite to win it again. He's 54.

Then there is Gosta Boltenstern, another Swede, who led the dressage grand prix after 22 of the 34 competitors had gone through their paces Friday. He's 52.

The men and women in this field believe that life starts at 50. There are at least eight others trying for the coveted medal who are over 50.

"To become an olympic dressage rider takes 10 years," said St. Cyr, a straight-backed, keen-eyed major in the Swedish Army. "You have to ride every day. It's a great way to keep fit and healthy.

"If you're a dressage rider, you can certainly win a medal at 60 and even maybe a later age.

Highland Sue paid $10.60, $4.40 and $3.60.

Shovel Takes First Place in National Loop

Marion Power Shovel - OSCO stood alone at the top of the National League following Little League action Friday night at the local Little League Field.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
MPS-OSCO	6	2
Vance's	5	3
Wilhelm's	5	3
Hinton's	0	8

MPS-OSCO whipped last - place Hinton's 6-3 after Vance's was dropped by Wilhelm's 13-3. The win placed the Wilhelm squad in contention in the National loop, one game off the pace.

Picking up an early lead and with Stan Flesher, Dick Merchant and Gary Clark holding the losers in check until the final frame, MPS-OSCO went on to down Hinton's.

The winners scored single tallies in the first three frames, tallied twice in the fourth and concluded their scoring in the sixth. Hinton's was held scoreless until the fourth when three hits produced a run, then wound up with a two-run rally in the sixth on three more safeties.

Hinton's was held to nine hits by MPS-OSCO hurling, which posted eight strikeouts and surrendered seven walks. MPS-OSCO garner 11 hits off Gil Taft of the losers. Taft fanned 10 and walked four.

Gary Walters had three hits and John Leffler two for the winners, while Rodger Pfeiffer's four bingles led Hinton's.

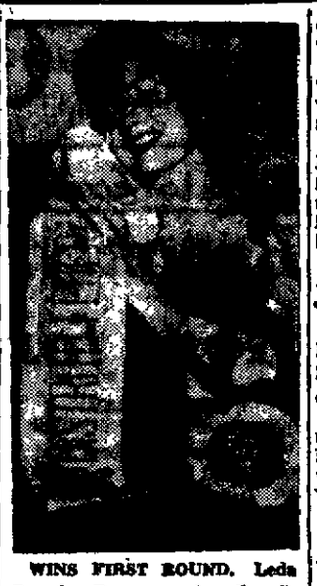
Vance's saw its first place roost disappear as Wilhelm's scored 10 times in the first two frames.

Five markers on five hits in the opening round, five more on five safeties in the second, and three in the third brought the contest to a premature close after three and a half frames.

Jack Waddell was on the hill for Wilhelm's and held the losers to single tallies in the first, second and fourth frames. He allowed only five hits, fanned five and walked five.

Neal Hall and William Flournoy were the Vance flingers. They were tagged for 13 hits while fanning three and walking four.

Timothy Peacock and George Hill both cracked out three hits for the winners, while Ron Maynard and Jon Wilson had two hits. Danny Roseberry punched out two bingles for Vance's.



WINS FIRST ROUND. Leda Brandao Rau poses happily after winning a beauty contest in Brazil Federal District. She will face the beauty queens of other Brazilian provinces in her bid for the title of Miss Brazil. The winner of that competition will represent the country in the Miss Universe contest at Long Beach, California.

Braves Recall Logan To Boost Hitting Attack

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves, worried over the weak hitting and spotty fielding of shortstop Johnny Logan, Friday night recalled Felix Mantilla from Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League.

To make room for the 22-year-old Puerto Rican, the Braves optioned utility infielder Jim Pendleton to their Wichita farm team in the AAA American Association on 24 hour recall.

Logan, before tonight's game with the Dodgers at Brooklyn, was hitting .240 — lowest among the regulars.

Mantilla hit .275 with Toledo last year.

Lower-Priced HomeBuilding Shows Decline

Higher Costs, Stiffer Terms Force Market Potential Downward

WASHINGTON—Mounting price tags on land, labor, material and mortgage money, together with a trend towards stiffer financing terms, are having an adverse effect on housing volume, a spot survey conducted by the National Assn of Home Builders has disclosed.

The upward pressures have combined to force increases in new home costs — a situation which is pushing builders away from their greatest mass market potential — and no immediate relief is in sight The situation is being aggravated by the reluctance of some lenders to accept long term, low interest mortgages

These developments, coupled with the continuing demand for larger houses, have been reflected in an increase of 11 per cent in the cost of sale housing, the survey indicated Participating builders reported a 1956 median of $14,500, a sharp upturn from their 1955 median of $13,050

"According to the replies to the survey, there will be a decline of about 30 per cent in the number of units priced under $10,900, as compared with 1955," a preliminary report noted It added there would be an "ever greater decline, 40 per cent, in the $10,000 to $12,500 category" Conversely, the survey revealed "very substantial percentage gains" in the higher price groups

The survey answers underscored the tightness and cost of mortgage money Three-fourths of the builders answering the NAHB questionnaire reported money was more difficult — and more expensive — to obtain than during the same period a year ago The money situation has worsened in the 30-day period immediately preceding the survey the builders noted

It was roughly a year ago when the first symptoms of tight mortgage money appeared in the housing market — a trend that foreshadowed the decline in starts which set in during late 1955 and which is still in evidence today

Pair Near Dayton Married in Secret After Bomb Blast

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A Dayton area couple, whose marriage plans were tragically interrupted on their wedding day when the prospective bridegroom was severely injured by a bomb, have been secretly married under heavy police guard

The bride's parents, Dr and Mrs Richard Pfarrer of suburban Kettering revealed Thursday their daughter Sara Louise, 21, and Andrew Donald Dixon, 27, of nearby Englewood, were married last Saturday in St Albert the Great Church here, as a police detail guarded the entrances

Dixon was wounded when the bomb wrapped as a wedding gift and left by an unknown assailant exploded in the living room of his home last April 28

His right eye and hearing were impaired by the blast He left the hospital 10 days ago

Mrs Pfarrer said Dixon was "feeling fine" at the ceremony She added that he has regained 50 per cent vision in the right eye and could hear "fairly well"

Police guarded church entrances during the ceremony

After the ceremony the couple received degrees at the University of Dayton commencement, then left on a honeymoon

Montgomery County sheriff's police said they were without clues in the bombing Dixon could offer no explanation for the attempt on his life.

Orderly Home Can Be Comfortable

Husband Should Have Lounging Area To Fit His Needs

By VIVIAN BROWN
Associated Press Staff Writer

Are you a housekeeping detective — a wife who stands at her man's elbow ready to catch his falling cigarette ashes?

If so, chances are he doesn't find home comfortable.

A man likes his home to be orderly and clean when he walks into it but feels entitled to mess it up, and he doesn't want to feel that this comfort puts a burden on the lady of the house

THE TRICK is to encourage him to relax by planning his den or lounging area to suit his needs Here are some suggestions

1 If he smokes a pipe, make sure the ashtray next to his favorite chair is large and sturdy instead of cautioning him to watch his ashes

2 Cocktails won't stain the end table if its surface is impervious to alcohol as well as cigarette burns, and you supply him with a coaster

3 When he strides into the room from the garden, you won't need to remind him about dirt on his shoes if a sensible rug is on the floor Avoid white and light colors Choose a washable rug if possible

4 He'll enjoy a place to put his feet, such as an ottoman It's a good place too for a child to settle when Dad is in the mood to read fairy tales

5 If he does have his own den and eats in his easy chair occasionally, serve on a tray

DESIGNER Russell Wright who emphasizes "the man's home is his castle theme" has designed a reclining lounger that offers restfulness and firm support It has a hidden footrest that Mom will not consider an eyesore and is upholstered in nylon that will resist abrasion and matting

IF YOU CARRY out the easy-to-care for room theme don't forget washable wallpaper, dacron quick-drying curtains and orlon drapery fabrics that are sun fast, requiring a minimum of ironing

Many interesting and attractive accessories are available in nonbreakable plastic today, and these too are ideal candidates for the man's bailiwick These include waste paper baskets drinking containers and planter.

IF YOU ARE lucky enough to have that extra room that serves as the all purpose room as well as a den for dad, let it get topsy turvy each evening, cleaning it up the next day Unexpected company will not be in on your secret because all you have to do is close the door in an emergency

The dad who must relax in the living room presents other problems, of course Just when he's got his chair surrounded by papers, the ashtray loaded with butts, his shoes off and suspenders pulled down, company is likely to barge in The way to feel about that is that unexpected company gets what it deserves

LUCKY FATHER relaxes in a king size chair with a device that raises a hidden foot rest The chair was designed by Russell Wright

Your home might not show up to advantage to the onlookers in that case But we'll bet if the intruder is a man, he'll envy your husband

Roof Repairing

Tips on Home Repairs

By ANDREW C. LANG
Associated Press Staff Writer

DO . . . replace a wooden shingle by splitting it into pieces with a chisel and a mallet, removing the pieces, taking out the nails in the shingle above and inserting the new shingle

DO . . . fasten the new wooden shingle by driving a nail through the space between the two shingles above it and then sliding or driving a small strip of galvanized metal or copper over the exposed nailhead

DO . . . replace an asphalt shingle by removing or cutting the nails from the two shingles in the courses directly above the damaged shingle, making the replacement, tacking it down with rustproof nails and covering the nailheads and old nail holes with asphalt cement

DO . . . effectively fill small openings in roll roofing with asphalt cement, applied generously and spread with a trowel

DO . . . fix larger breaks in roll roofing by applying a patch considerably larger than the damaged area, flattening it out and nailing it down spreading asphalt cement along the edges of the patch.

DON'T . . . attempt any roof repairs unless you have a sturdy ladder know how to handle it and can do the job while in a well-balanced position

DON'T . . . forget that when a roof is old, worn and weather-beaten, the first leak may be only a sign of things to come and a new roof, rather than a repair may be in order

DON'T . . . on the other hand, be too quick to replace a shingle with a small crack in it, a cracked asphalt shingle for example, can be repaired merely by filling the break with asphalt cement, putting the cement under the crack as well as in it

DON'T . . . when nailing a patch on roll roofing drive the nails too deep or they will cut into the material.

Now Is Time To Check, Fix Oil Furnaces

Heating Firms Have More Time; Can Give Warm Weather Rates

Tired as you are of fiddling with the thermostat, paying gas or oil bills or shoveling coal, now is the time for foresighted home owners to put their heating systems in order for next winter.

In most cases only a few minor repairs are necessary, and a checkup during the early summer months can result in savings that will more than compensate for the cost of service. For one thing, most heating men are not swamped with "rush" work during the summer months. Many of them offer special hot weather rates to keep their workmen busy.

This is especially true if your home is one of the more than 15,000,000 in this country heated with oil.

Consider Improvements

Oftentimes, only minor adjustments are necessary. However, if your oil burner is old, it might be well to look into some of the newer accessories that have come along recently to improve its performance. One of the most profitable is an inexpensive (about $10) unit called Delaytrol which can be installed quickly on the fuel line to cut your annual fuel bill by from 5 to 10 per cent.

As is apparent from the name, it delays the flow of oil to the burner for from six to eight seconds after the burner is turned on until the unit reaches peak efficiency. It cuts the flow of oil instantaneously when the burner is turned off. This insures almost complete combustion thus avoiding sooting and puff-back.

If the burner is the gun type, you can be almost certain that it isn't obsolete and doesn't need replacing even if it doesn't work well. Research by one heating equipment manufacturer, the Webster Electric Co., which makes fuel pumps for nearly all makes of oil burners, shows that 85 per cent of all service calls are the result of clogging of the strainers or filters.

Some Points to Check

Checking of the filter cartridge at the outlet from the oil tank to see if it should be replaced and cleaning of the strainer in the burner unit are inexpensive and simple procedures that should be done each year.

Other important check points are the nozzle, pump, ignition transformer and fan motor in the burner unit. The transformer and the motor especially are vulnerable, since flooded basements common in the spring can damage them severely.

The transformer should be replaced but it's considerably cheaper to have the motor rewound than to pay for a new one. The repaired motor will work just as well.

If your boiler has a "zoot soot" your heating unit definitely needs a thorough check with the special testing equipment all good heating specialists have available. Soot is an insulator and interferes with the efficient distribution of heat.

Save Your Hands

To save wear and tear on your hands this summer, keep the wooden handles of your garden tools smooth. Sandpaper rough spots and fill any cracks with Plastic Wood, a bit overfull. Sand flush and smooth after filler has hardened. Wiping the handles with linseed oil from time to time will help keep the wood in good condition.

A good way to tighten a loose handle is to remove it, fill the hole with plastic wood, and then replace the handle. Use enough of the filler so that some is forced out when the handle is replaced. Don't use the tool until the filler has had a chance to harden over night.

First Aid for Ailing House

By ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: — have a metal covered bulkhead for my cellar. Every winter the frost cracks all the cement blocks I patched up the blocks last summer, but the same thing happened this past winter. A contractor put a footing on the same level of cellar and cement blocks to the top of the bulkhead. What can be done to solve this problem?

A: I suspect that the concrete blocks used are not of the same thickness as the foundation walls, and frost in the ground had caused expansion, forcing the blocks out of line. If the footing is not below the frost line, trouble could be expected. I also wonder if the blocks absorb water and the water freezes. If so, coat them with a dampproof cement base paint — the kind that comes in powder form and is mixed with water.

Q: A short while ago, while sterilizing baby bottles on my electric range, the water in the pan evaporated and the enamel melted off the pot on the heating element. I have tried everything I know of to remove this dripping but unsuccessfully. Could you recommend a procedure to eliminate this baked on-enamel?

A: Try the following. Get the element as hot as possible and after a few minutes, while it is still "red" hot, try wiping off the enamel with a thick wad of "00" steel wool. If the wool gets hot too fast, hold it with a pair of pliers. The high temperature may melt the porcelain for easy removal.

Q: Will you tell me why my new windows, made of wood, get black spots?

A: Continued moisture in wood for a prolonged time will cause mildew to form, which appears on wood as black spots. The moisture was evidently caused by condensation (sweating) on glass during the past winter season. To remove the stains, take off the finish down to the bare wood, then apply a liberal quantity of a hot saturated solution of oxalic acid (poison). Allow to remain overnight, then rinse off all traces of the solution with water. When the wood is thoroughly dry, smooth it with "0000" sandpaper and wipe off the dust. Finish as desired. Storm sash on the windows should help relieve the condition, but you should also try to keep down the humidity in the house air by means of ventilation, particularly in the kitchen, bathroom and laundry room. Laundry should always be hung outdoors to dry.

Q. I have a tile hearth which is very old and the glaze is worn off in spots. Will you please advise what kind of paint I could use on it?

A: If the fireplace is used, paint near the fire may soften, blister and become charred by the heat. Otherwise, dull the gloss of the tile with coarse sandpaper or emery cloth and wipe off the dust. Scrub the hearth with a detergent and hot water then rinse with clear water. When tile is thoroughly dry, coat it with a good brand of semi-gloss enamel. Floor paint would be better but the colors of this type of paint are rather dull.

Walls of Wood Top Choice To Improve Home

In this year of big emphasis on home modernizing, hardwood plywood wall paneling may walk off with top honors as the 'most favored project" according to leading interior stylists.

The giant "Operations Home Improvement" program is encouraging thousands of families in all parts of the nation to cast about for the best ways to update their homes. The reason that genuine hardwood wall paneling rates high, the decorators say, is that it works a dramatic change in the home at low cost. And installation is a quickly-accomplished carpenter job —or a practical "do-it-yourself" proposition, which means further savings.

Another advantage is that hardwood plywood offers wide variety in both species and use. A popular treatment is to panel one or two walls in a living room for an accent note. Paneling one 8x12 foot accent wall will cost anywhere from $35 to $75, depending on the kind of hardwood chosen and whether finished or unfinished paneling is used.

The accent wall is favored in bedrooms and dens, too, while in dining rooms paneling halfway up for a wainscoting effect is popular. A big use for hardwood plywood paneling will be in giving warmth and beauty to new living space in finishing off attics or basements, or a new room added to the home.

The most popular hardwood species available in wall paneling are ash, birch, cherry, elm gum, limba, mahogany, maple, oak, and walnut. The panels can be had either smooth surfaced or routed vertically at intervals for a random plank effect. Plywood wall paneling is usually installed in 4x8-foot sheets, but a 16-inch x 8-foot panel is available for a formal plank effect. Wainscot panels 36 inches high are cut from popular six-foot lengths.

YOUR HOME . . . Today and Tomorrow

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

The householder with a mind to improve his back yard or grounds is frequently stopped by the cost involved with the improvement. Landscaping is expensive, shrubs are not cheap, and most of all, the idea must be practical as well as something the owner can do himself.

There have been several nice, attractive, and easy-to-do schemes worked out by professionals. One of the best is a job that any grown man or woman can accomplish over a week end.

This plan starts with driving a stake in the center of the lawn, attaching a cord to it and with another sharp stake at the end of the cord marking out a circle 10, 15, 20 or more feet in diameter. The dimension to be in accordance with the size of the lawn. The next step is to cut down into the turf all along the marked circle, shaking the sod out and laying it aside.

Next, the area enclosed by the circle is spaded up and graded with a rake so that it rises slightly in the center as illustrated. A six or eight-foot shrub is planted in the center and four two-foot shrubs are spaced properly around it as shown.

The cost of the larger shrub and the four smaller ones should not exceed $15, and this is the sum total of the money to be spent.

As a matter of fact, in many communities there are native shrubs to be dug up for nothing in the woods and the same effect can be worked out with them.

Large lawns can be landscaped with two or more circles with neat squares or borders. If desired, low wood curbs can be set in, bricks can be set up in soldier-course, or fieldstone used to outline the circle rim.

Work Saver

When painting partitions between panes of glass in a window there is a simple way to keep the paint from smearing the glass. Wet some newspapers or paper towels and plaster them evenly over the pane. Trim the paper with a ruler or sharp edge to fit the window pane. The wet paper will absorb any paint that misses the partition and save you a scraping job. For best results, allow the paper to dry partially.

House Makeup

Your screens need a periodic cleaning. Dust and dirt, accumulated over the year, should be washed off throughly. Apply clear varnish or a screen enamel with a brush. This will save copper or bronze screens from corrosion.

If you have trouble with the screens staining window sills, scrub the sill with washing soda or trisodium phosphate. A little paint will come off with the dirt. Screens that have been varnished or enameled will not stain window sills.

Take Real Care In Decorating Outdoor Areas

"Outdoor living areas should be decorated with as much care as you give to your home interior," emphasizes Elsie Doty Sopp, AID, noted decorating authority.

"The correlation between indoors and outdoors, so imminent in contemporary architecture where large expanses of glass link house with grounds, makes it essential that color and style themes of the interior decor be repeated in patio or terrace," Mrs. Sopp declares.

Popularity of wood paneling for the walls of your most beautiful rooms also extends to the outdoors in many of the smartly styled siding patterns of western red cedar and Douglas fir. These lovely, rich toned woods create a neutral background for the pastel pinks, turquoises and yellows largely in use in decorating themes of today.

Mrs. Sopp points out that in addition to using your indoor color and material schemes in patio furniture and cushions, even flowering shrubs and blossoms may be planned so that they integrate with the interior colors. For example, if pink is your dominant color indoors, plant pink tulips and azaleas, roses, dahlias, and contrasting white or blue flowers. It's wise to plan your garden of color, so that as one season terminates another series of flowers will replace those which have stopped blooming.

To accessorize your outdoor living room, urns of stone and cedar lend elegance to the setting, this popular decorator states. Cedar tubs blend with the outdoors perfectly, match exterior siding and possibly your patio furniture. This natural weather-resistant wood will eliminate the need for storing your furniture every time it rains, and make your outdoor lounging spot a place to enjoy with a minimum of maintenance.

Appraisal Determines Fair Price of Residence

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

APPRAISERS say that when a man picks a wife or buys a house he goes temporarily insane Skip the part about the wife (to keep peace), but when a man boasts that he bought his house five minutes after entering the front door, any objective appraisal would be that he had his neck out

A young man recently told us about a 30-year-old house he was going to buy for more than $20,000 'How old is the heating plant?" we asked He didn't know. "How old is the roof?" . Why don t you get an appraisal?"

Wont the bank making the mortgage loan have an appraisal? Yes to determine the security of its loan But a bank's appraisal has about as much to do with you as the fire insurance a bank will require to cover its own loan

Whether you are paying a fair market price for a property—getting a bargain or a reasonable buy can only be determined by an independent appraisal

"TO BECOME a happy homeowner" says Edwin Kazdin, a New York real estate consultant, "you have to buy at least two houses This is an old saying and a luxury that few can afford But it does suggest that the unwary buyer often acting on impulse or without competent advice, pays a high price for his mistakes"

Kazdi spent more than 30 years in the house appraisal business before he restricted his activities among the skyscrapers But he's a homeowner, too

"The average couple" he observes "will shop assiduously for a $100 living room table and will carefully weigh and ponder the final decision When the purchase of a fur coat or diamond ring is contemplated, there ensues long discussions among relatives and friends and an independent appraisal is not unusual

"Yet when a lifetime of savings may be involved in the commitment for a house the only advice the buyer usually gets comes from the real estate agent, who obviously is in the business to sell houses

"It is amazing how often people will buy an expensive home and never think of getting the independent opinion of an appraiser I can recall a case of a house that was sold three times in two years and only because of a badly planned kitchen-dining facility No housewife could live with the arrangement and the house was finally sold to a couple who go to business and eat out most of the time.

"An appraisal, of course, is no guarantee against loss or dissatisfaction but it opens a book of information for all to see"

APPRAISERS look at a house in terms of "comparable sales," "functional obsolescence," "curable and incurable depreciation" and most serious, "economic obsolescence" The latter involves the neighborhood, district, city and all conditions bearing on investment in your particular property

You can't find anything like the automobile Blue Book to guide you," because houses and locations can't be classified like yearly models of automobiles But you can find experts in almost every locality who rank high in appraisal institutes and societies

To have a house judged by an expert appraiser is one of the cheapest forms of assurance The Veterans Administration gets appraisals made for about $25 apiece because several properties may be evaluated at one time For individual cases, you may pay from $25 to $75, depending on various circumstances Of course if you are buying a mansion, the evaluation will be a bigger job, costing more There is no flat national rate But whatever the rate, it should be worth it to know that you aren't being "temporarily insane"

Help by States Urged in Older Folks' Housing

WASHINGTON D C — A strong recommendation for the expansion of private home building for housing older persons was approved by delegates of the Federal-State Confefence on the Aging. The meeting, held at the National Housing Center, was attended by persons acting as a special committee on housing and living arrangements for elderly people

The conference is sponsored by the Council of State Governments and the Federal Council on Aging, the latter an interdepartmental government group created by the President to explore housing programs and needs of oldsters

In their recommendations to the conference at large, the delegates proposed that the various states take appropriate steps to encourage the production of small, suitably designed houses built by private industry and utilizing for that purpose, wherever necessary the liberalized provisions for Federal Housing Administration mortgage insurance contained in pending Congressional legislation

Other recommendations by the group included

1 State-wide meetings to be called by the various governors of representatives of public, private, and voluntary organizations to study the housing problems and needs of the aging in their own states. Only 14 states now have active formal organizations for dealing with problems of older persons

2. That governors include housing in the program of any state organization created for assisting older people

3. That social security legislation be amended to permit recipients of public assistance to receive old age assistance if living in tax-supported boarding houses, such as county homes

4 Encouragement of services in each community which would enable older people to stay as long as possible in their own homes The delegates stated that older persons prefer their homes to institutions, and that if such services as homemaking, visiting nurses, and friendly visitors were provided and expanded, this desire could be met more widely

5 Participation by private and housing for the aging This would include church groups, citizen or ganizations, and housing associations.

6 Small homes and apartments for older people in and facing retirement who are now living in large homes bought when their incomes were substantially greater, and their children lived at home

7 A two-year extension of the Hill-Burton Act, as recommended by the President, because several states have not yet had the chance to avail themselves of the special provisions for nursing homes and rehabilitation and treatment centers.

8 Comprehensive planning by communities considering projects for older people, to include integration of such community services as recreation nursing care, and hospital facilities with the projects

9 Broad efforts to make available to the aging the residence and settlement requirements of the various states, so that they will not lose assistance and other rights.

Florida GOP Delegates Holding Off on Nixon

JACKSONVILLE, Fla (AP)—Florida delegates to the Republican National Convention shied away from endorsing Vice President Nixon for either the No 1 or No 2 place on the ticket in November

At the organization meeting Friday for the 26 delegates a proposed resolution which said they are pledged to President Eisenhower and Nixon ran into immediate opposition

'I think we should wait until we get further along" said Paul L E Helliwell of Miami a district delegate and state chairman of the Citizens for Eisenhower Committee "I'm for President Eisenhower until the cows come home, but if we pledge ourselves today to Vice President Nixon . . we may destroy our freedom to vote at the convention if Mr Eisenhower does not run for renomination"

Legal Fight Is Seen on Filing Statement of Election Expense

CLEVELAND (AP)—A legal showdown on Ohio's new law requiring candidates to file expense accounts within a month after elections is expected here

The new law says candidates can't be certified as elected or nominated if they don't meet the deadline Furthermore, the law says candidates who don't file their expense accounts can't run for office for the next five years.

After last May's primary 'election, five Cleveland candidates who were victorious failed to file the accounts by the June 7 deadline

Friday two Republican lawyers demanded the Board of Elections refuse to certify the five The five include three Democratic convention delegates pledged to Gov Frank J Lausche — Mayor Anthony J Celebrezze Stephen A Zona and Margaret A Mahoney—and two nominees for state representative—James J McGettrick and Mrs Anne M Donnelly

The attorneys, former state legislator and congressman L L Marshall and his partner, Wilbur H Brewer, a candidate for representative asked the county prosecutor to bring action to enjoin the Board of Elections from certifying the five

They said if the prosecutor refuses, they will file suit

Secretary of State Ted W Brown chief Ohio election officer, has said certification of late filers would be allowed despite the law He said the attorney general has construed the deadline as "directory as distinguished from mandatory."

Improvements Being Sought For Banff Area

CALGARY, Alberta, Canada, (INS) — There will be some changes made at "Banff the Beautiful," famed Canadian rockies resort, if the Calgary Herald's campaign to modernize this summer resort bears fruit

Improvement of roads, adequate housing quarters for tourists, and complete banishment of federal control over this "scenic island" in the province of Alberta are some of the aims of the Herald

Only half of the advantages of this scenic wonderland have been made available to the public—the summer half, according to the park's boosters

While 600,000 tourists made the trip to Banff last year, Bruce Philhps writing for the Herald, fears that the resort will suffer because of

"A road into town so bad that the number of broken springs thereon is countless, a main street chockful of potholes, a restaurant where is served a mediocre meal at gold-rush prices, an endless canvass of motels and tourists homes to find a vacancy"

Backers are pushing the government to cut some of the red tape and act upon such proposals as an enclosed gondola lift up Sulphur Mountain, a lift which anyone can ride, two drive-in theaters, a civic center for cultural and sports purposes, lawn bowling greens and tennis courts, another golf course, a $250,000 shopping arcade

The past winter months, with the lodge deserted, made winter sport enthusiasts mourn for better facilities which could easily make Banff one of the finest winter sports resorts in Canada

The Calgary Herald warned that if the government persists in retaining all power at the resort Banff the Beautiful may well become "Paradise Lost"

a tribute to the Fathers of all
Marion Star
Newspaperboys!

You know there is no pride as great as the pride a Father takes in his son. On this Father's Day, 1956, we would like to add our word of congratulations on the fine progress your son is making toward responsible manhood.

In taking on the duties of newspaper route work, he has shown himself to be an ambitious lad, eager to tackle his own problems and build for himself a successful future We have worked with him on his route and found him prompt in deliveries, alert in increasing his number of subscribers and thrifty in saving a portion of his route profits.

We know his splendid home training and your own fatherly interest in his progress are largely responsible for what he is today.

It is YOU, therefore, whom we congratulate and to whom we say, "Your Son is a fine boy, headed for a bright future."

Sincerely yours,
THE MARION STAR
